Chairman Hays Says Harding Will Have No Less Than 368 Electoral Votes

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Republican and democratic national headquarters today began the last day of the presidential campaign by reasserting confidence in the election of their candidates.

"Cox and Roosevelt will win," declared George White, democratic national chairman.

Will H. Hays, leader of the republican forces, translated his expectations into figures, expressing the conviction that Harding would have no less than 368, probably 385, electoral votes out of 531. The number required to elect is 268.

ALL IS READY FOR ELECTION

Fully 25,000 Expected to
Vote Here Tomorrow—
Over One-Third Women

Sentiment Grows for Cox
and Roosevelt—State and
Local Candidates Active

It is believed that with reasonably good weather at least 25,000 votes will be cast in the "solemn referendum" in Lowell tomorrow. There are approximately 30,000 names on the voting lists. About 12,000 of these have been added since the last election. Something over a third of the registered voters are women and will cast their ballots for the first time in a national or state election.

The polls are to be open at 3 o'clock tomorrow morning and close at 6 p. m. Voting in the early hours of the day is desirable. It is anticipated that there will be a rush for the polling places between the hours of 5 and 6 in the afternoon. The last ballots must be in the boxes when the clock strikes 6. There can be no extension of time to accommodate lag-gards.

The republican leaders are making the claim today that they will carry the city by at least 2000 majority. The democratic chieftains are pointing to the fact that the city is normally democratic and refraining from claiming specific majorities.

In the state it is expected that there will be a vote of approximately 780,000. This is about a third larger than was cast last year. The republicans are claiming a majority of 200,000 for Harding and Coolidge in the state. They admit, though, that Channing Cox, even if elected, will run behind his ticket, and that unless their landslide predictions regarding the vote for the national ticket are realized, Alvan T. Fuller is likely to be defeated for lieutenant governor by Marcus A. Coolidge in the three-cornered fight between Fuller, Coolidge and Washburn.

Hopes For O'Hearn

The republicans have made an extra effort by the circulation of campaign literature to insure that supporters of the party shall place their crosses opposite the name of James Jackson O'Hearn, the regular nominee for state treasurer, instead of that of George H. Jackson of Lynn, independent. The democratic leaders, however, are pinning their faith on the presence of the names of the two

MAYOR TO APPOINT FUEL ADMINISTRATOR

In order to make sure that every Lowell family receives an equitable share of coal at the beginning of the winter season, Eugene C. Hultman, fuel administrator for Massachusetts, has asked Mayor Perry D. Thompson to serve as fuel administrator for Lowell or to appoint some competent citizen to fill the office.

Until coal flows into the state more freely, Administrator Hultman is anxious to have officials in each city and town in the state supervise the distribution of coal so that there may be an equitable distribution. Transportation difficulties on the railroads and labor troubles at the mines, Mr. Hultman says in his letter to the mayor, have caused an acute shortage of domestic anthracite coal in this state, but he expects relief in the near future. A settlement of labor troubles, the diverting to the east of much coal that formerly went west but which cannot be taken care of there after the lake ports close for the winter and better transportation facilities are among the reasons given for prospects of a more steady flow of fuel to this state within a short time. Mr. Hultman also says that competent authorities predict lower prices.

However, with the cold weather coming on and coal coming into the state only in restricted amounts, the state authorities are anxious to have what fuel there is fairly distributed. The 3-ton law which went into effect in September still applies, but may be overcome by dealers with the sanction of the local administrator in the case of hospitals, schools and emergencies.

Mayor Thompson believes somebody familiar with the local situation should be appointed administrator for Lowell. The names of John M. O'Donoghue and Albert D. Muliken have been suggested, but it is doubtful if either will be willing to give the great amount of time necessary for the work. The mayor hopes to be able to announce the fuel administrator for this city within a few days.

Jacksons on the ticket to put Patrick O'Hearn of Boston over the top for the office by a comfortable margin.

It is not improbable that in the election on tomorrow 25,000,000 ballots will be cast in the 48 states of the union. Both parties are claiming a victory for their candidates. Party lines are broken as they have not been in many years. Many voters will doubtless find themselves puzzled as they have never before when they enter the polling booths. Senator Harding has maneuvered himself into a position in which he has the support of bitter-end opponents of the league and loyal supporters of the covenant. As a matter of fact the senator has stated that he "would scrap the league," while Gov. Cox has said that stands firmly for ratification with suitable reservations. It can be truthfully said, though, that the issue has

Light Breeze May Bring
Nine Hour Time Limit
Into Play

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 1.—Sailing closer to the wind than her Canadian rival, the Gloucester schooner Esperanto, cut Delawana's lead in half at the third turn in today's international fishermen's race and started the fourth leg only a few lengths behind.

Whereas at the end of the second leg with 12½ miles covered, the American was approximately five minutes behind, at the third turn, with another 10 miles behind her, Esperanto was only two minutes and 12 seconds to the bad by official time. The Gloucester man gained when the Nova Scotian overtook his mark by about a quarter of a mile.

The American schooner started out over the same course she had raced to victory on Saturday with her Yankee crew determined to clinch the fishermen's sailing title by making it the best two out of three.

She gained a half length at the start by the clever handling of her skipper but on the first of the five legs dropped behind length by length, lagging four minutes and 15 seconds behind her rival at the first turn and about four minutes and 52 seconds at the second turn.

A breeze averaging 12 knots enabled the craft to finish their first contest in about six hours, but the breeze was lighter today, and when the start was made, indicated that the nine hour time limit might come into play before the day was over.

WOMAN PRECINCT OFFICER NAMED

The first woman precinct officer in the history of the city of Lowell has just been appointed by the local board of election commissioners to assume her duties at the state election tomorrow. She is Mrs. Mary F. Sullivan of 45 Wamsit street, a nurse by occupation.

Mrs. Sullivan will serve in precinct 2 of ward 5 in Mosford square. She was appointed to fill a democratic vacancy in that precinct. According to Hugh C. McCook, chairman of the election commissioners, more women precinct officers will be appointed as vacancies occur.

LOWELL VOTERS VOTE BY MAIL

A big batch of absentee voters' ballots flowed into the election commissioners' office at city hall today from residents of Lowell who are to be out of town tomorrow and who have taken advantage of the new state law allowing voting by mail at state elections. Among them were ballots from the following: Carrie Louise Philbrick, Bethel, Me.; George M. Tabor, Springfield; Alfred B. Kendall, Manchester, N. H.; William Larkin, Worcester; Calla Standish, Boston; L. E. Dolan, Washington, D. C.; Georgia L. Blaisdell, Newburyport; Eugene A. Racicot, P. A. Racicot and Marie Emelia Racicot, all from West Somerville; John Joseph Malyka, Amherst; John J. O'Rourke, Boston; Gerald B. Duval, Haverhill; John A. Stearns, Cleveland, O.; and Eugene A. Shea, New Bedford.

MONEY POURS INTO THE CITY TREASURY

The city treasury was further swollen today, the last day for the payment of 1920 taxes without interest charges, when a number of the large corporations paid their assessments for the year. The largest amount received up to noon was $125,000 paid by the Massachusetts mill. The Tremont & Suffolk mills were assessed this year for $121,152.96, the largest amount of any of the corporations, but up to noon this tax had not been paid.

Among the heavy corporations which sent checks for their current taxes were the Saco-Lowell shops, $46,612.31; Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co., $14,872.15; Lawrence Mfg. Co., $74,310.35; Merrimack Mfg. Co., $101,002, and Appleton Co., $77,126.71.

Rev. Francis L. Keenan De-
livers Eulogy — Church
and Open Air Services

Seldom if ever in the history of this city was there any other such general, spontaneous and enthusiastic demonstration by the citizens of Irish extraction as that of yesterday in honor of Ireland's martyrs, the victims of the recent hunger strike in British prisons — Lord Mayor MacSwiney of the city of Cork, Michael Fitzgerald and Joseph Murphy.

The fate of Terence MacSwiney especially and his heroic sacrifice, caused profound sorrow among the friends of Ireland and this was intensified by their admiration for his unconquerable spirit which defied every effort on the part of his jailers to have him abandon his protest not only against his imprisonment but against alien rule in Ireland.

As the hour approached for the start of the parade, the various contingents arrived by parishes in the vicinity of city hall, led by their respective clergymen and prominent laymen, who were followed by long processions of men and women, together with a few organizations of children, and all showed a full realization of the sorrowful character of the demonstration. The parade started on time and was certainly a most impressive spectacle.

MUFF FESSES UP

Mike Mole was making awful mistakes while they were playing blind man's buff. He was "it" and every time he caught anyone he guessed the wrong person. Mike, his father, was mortified to death, and Mr. Scritch, the fairy schoolmaster, hardly knew what to make of it. But Nick nearly fainted for shame. Such a dummy! And worse still, Muff caught Scamper later, and after pawing him all over, hushy-tit and all, he said he was Cuthie Cottontail. It really was the limit. But after awhile he caught Tommy Thousand-Legger and being pretty tired himself he told Tommy's right name. "Right," breathed everybody with great relief, glad that the game was over at last. And they took Muff's hand.

Daddy Mole took his boy to one side and lectured him solemnly. "Muff," said he, "you're a disgrace to the family. Why did you make so many mistakes?" Muff fessed up then that he'd been shamming. "I had to, dad," he said. "Honest?" And he named over every body he'd caught in their proper order. "I knew 'em all! But it folks get caught and guessed right they get mad. Prickles Porcupine and Snoopy Skunk aren't safe a call!"

and Nancy were wise little people and knew that Muff wasn't so stupid as he was pretending.

Bye and bye Muff caught Cuthie Cottontail, with his great long ears sticking up like lamp-posts, and his tail nothing more than a name. Everyone of the Meadow Grove pupils was perfectly positive he'd guess right this time. In fact, they were hoping he would, for they were getting tired playing the same game all the time and wanted to change. Besides, they were getting hungry.

Muff took Cuthie all over, even hopping up on the rabbit boy's back and feeling his great long ears to the very tips. "Scamper Squirrel!" he announced directly, and his mother and father

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM RHODE ISLAND

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 1.—The speaking campaign in Rhode Island closed last night with rallies in various parts of the state. There are 200,000 voters this year and it is estimated that 150,000 ballots will be cast. Both parties claim the election. Republican Chairman Burlingame said:

"The republicans will elect their entire state ticket headed by San Souci for governor, by over 20,000. The legislature will have 50 republican majority. There are 10 towns where the opposition has not even made a nomination for the assembly, giving us 20 members without a skirmish."

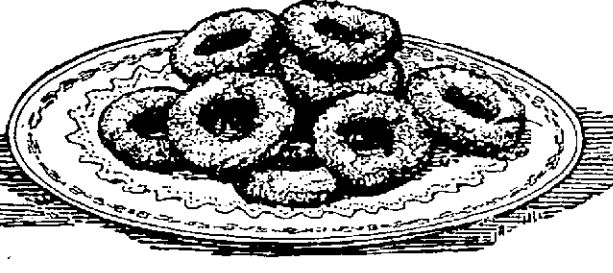

"There is no question of Harding and Coolidge carrying Rhode Island. It is only the size of the majority, probably 25,000. The republicans will carry most of the cities for municipal offices and elect all three congressmen."

Democratic Chairman Archambault said: "The democrats will carry the state for Cox by 10,000 and we will have the best support the women can give us. Edward M. Sullivan, democratic nominee for governor, and the

Louis Napoleon Gullbault, former organist of St. Jean Baptiste church and director of the Gullbault academy for music, who will sail next week for France, where he will continue his plans studies with Chaminade, a celebrated composer and pianist, gave a farewell concert in Colonial hall last evening. There were about 500 friends and pupils of Mr. Gullbault present and all were highly entertained. The program was brief but of exceptional merit, those taking part being Mr. Gullbault, who entertained his audience with enjoyable selections; Miss Anna Martel, a talented soprano; Miss Alice Gullbault, an accomplished violinist and Mr. David C. Boyle, the well known baritone. The accompanists were Miss Irene Hall, Mr. Eugene Gullbault and Mr. John Ball. Before the evening's program was brought to a close Mr. Gullbault was presented two purses of gold, one from the members of St. Jean Baptiste church choir and the other from the pupils of the academy. During Mr. Gullbault's absence the academy will be in charge of Miss Alice Renard.

Indiana Tells Operators How Much Fuel the State Must Get

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—Indiana and the nation stand agape today while the state administration, elected from the most conservative group in the republican party, is taking away from the coal operators and dealers the right to control "their own" property.

Excessive Profits

Coal operators admit privately they have been making excessive profits, but claim the prices fixed by the state coal commission are too low and that they can only operate at a loss under them.

With the fixing of prices, Indiana operators immediately began sending coal out of the state in larger quantities until the pinch was felt throughout the state.

Then the commission startled the state, the operators and the nation. It ordered the operators to produce enough coal for Indiana's domestic consumption, 1,600,000 tons a month, at a price fixed by the commission.

The order requires a report each week on the number of tons mined, the amount offered for sale and the buyers. Violations of the order are punishable by a maximum fine of $5000, to which may be added a sentence of one year on the Indiana state farm.

This revolutionary order is the first of its kind, attorneys state. Monopolistic public utilities have been ordered to serve people but never before has a business in which competition is supposed to exist been ordered to serve the people with its property.

Warns Operators

James P. Goodrich, Indiana's conservative governor, who fostered the law establishing the commission, has warned the coal operators not to fight reasonable regulation.

Chairman Eschbach of the commission recently announced that if Indiana retail coal dealers refused to observe the commission's ruling on the $2.25 margin granted them on the mine price of coal, he would establish municipal coal yards throughout the state.

Goodrich, tactful in selecting the commission, evaded the old cry of "just another useless commission," by constituting the state board of accounts as the coal commission, a feature of the law which provided for the appointment of its members without additional pay. Gov. Goodrich, Jesse Eschbach, chief of the board of accounts, and Otto Klaus, auditor of the state, make up the commission.

LOWELL MECHANIC PHALANX OUTING

Members of Lowell Mechanic Phalanx association held their first annual target shoot, business meeting and supper at the Dracut rifle range Saturday afternoon and evening and present at the event were about 75 people, among whom were several old timers from the ranks of Company C, Sixth Regiment, M.V.M. and N.G.

The affair was a success in every way and reflected great credit upon the organizers.

The target shoot was held in the afternoon and was followed by a business meeting during which interesting reports of the various committees of the association were given. A feature of the meeting was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: James Burns, president; Ambrose Reed, vice president; Charles J. Duffy, secretary; Arthur Salmon, assistant secretary; F. E. Johnston, treasurer; Maj. Colby T. Kittredge, Capt. H. E. Merrill and Corp. Pratt, directors.

The supper was presided over by Arthur F. Simon, who after briefly reviewing the work of the organization during the past few years, introduced the following speakers: Mayer Thompson, Capt. E. M. Pratt, C. Oliver Barnes, Capt. Merrill, Maj. Kittredge, Maj. James J. Powers, Capt. Thomas Livingston and Lawrence Cummings.

At the close of the exercises prizes were awarded as follows:

Prosperous Massachusetts Farmer Says His Wonderful Improvement Since Taking Tanlac Was Great Surprise to His Friends.

When so many well known people of unquestioned integrity make statement after statement, and each and every one of them testifying to the same thing every day, and each and every statement corroborating the other, the truth of such statements can no longer be doubted.

One of the latest to testify regarding Tanlac, the medicine that is accomplishing such remarkable results everywhere, is Charles H. Chase, of Lakeville, Mass., and when men of this type testify it must be conceded that the premier preparation is all that is claimed for it.

Mr. Chase is one of the most successful and widely known farmers in Massachusetts and although now 80 years of age, and retired for several years, he still looks after his large interests and takes an active part in the social and civic affairs of his community.

"I have been benefited even beyond my belief," said Mr. Chase, "and I think it is time for me to talk Tanlac for the benefit of others. Why, this medicine has not only relieved me of a case of stomach trouble that had followed me for years, almost wrecking my health, but it has built me up 20 pounds in weight, besides, and I just can't say too much for it.

"Many a time I have had such terrible pains in my stomach and felt so nauseated and dizzy I could hardly stand up. I lost weight and got so weak that even a walk of a few yards would get me all exhausted and out of breath. Several times, while out looking after the work on my farm I became so weak I had to be carried back home."

"Seeing Tanlac so highly endorsed I concluded to make one more effort to get my health back, so I sent for two bottles of the medicine and felt so much better after finishing the first one that it surprised me.

"My pains have all left me. I eat like a horse and as I have said I gained 20 pounds in the past five weeks. My dizziness and stomach misery have all disappeared and I eat just anything I want. My wonderful improvement has been a surprise to all my friends as well as to myself.

"In giving this statement I have no axe to grind or favors to ask. I only feel that I am paying my big debt of gratitude by doing what I can to get others started out on the Tanlac road to good health, for I believe the medicine is a godsend to suffering humanity. One thing certain, it has relieved my troubles and built me up until I feel that I am as good as my younger days."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

Parade and Solemn Service

both in numbers and in manifestations of sorrow for the now martyrs to the Irish cause. There were probably 12,000 people in line and the assembly on the South common where the exercises were held, must have numbered at least 15,000. The exercises at the common consisted of the delivery of an eloquent eulogy upon Lord Mayor Sir John Swinney by Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. Patrick's church, followed by the recitation of the rosary directed by Rev. Dr. Keleher of St. Peter's.

The ceremonies throughout were conducted with strict religious solemnity and the firing of the salutes and sounding of taps over the three caskets at the close were strikingly impressive.

Start of Parade
Shortly after 2:30 the services which were held in the various Catholic churches, consisting of the chanting of the Libera and the recitation of the rosary, came to an end and members of the various parishes began assembling near city hall for the start of the procession. St. Patrick's delegation was the first to arrive and took up a position in Cardinal O'Connell parkway, facing Merrimack street. Children from St. Patrick's parochial school under the direction of the Xaverian brothers led this delegation. The children formed a cross and made a very impressive showing. Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., James O'Sullivan, Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, Peter McKenna, Matthew James and Patrick Sheridan led this delegation.

St. Peter's delegation, forming in Worthen street, was led by Rev. Peter P. Linnahan, Rev. Daniel J. Jefferson, Michael J. Sharkey, Richard Lyons, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey, Mrs. Michael J. Monahan, Mary McKenna and Catherine McKenna.

The Immaculate Conception delegation formed in Moody street, facing Merrimack, and in the lead were members of the Y.M.C.I. and the women of the parish. Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., Rev. James J. McCarlin, O.M.I.,

Daniel F. Murphy, Charles Burns, Thomas E. Clark and Joseph A. Preston were in charge of the representation.

From St. Michael's parish came another large delegation which formed in Dutton street, facing Merrimack. Those heading the line were Rev. Jas. F. Lynch, Rev. Thomas J. Heagney, Henry Rogers, Thomas B. Delaney, William Gallagher, Thomas Dillon, Commissioner John P. Sathorn and Hon. John T. Sparks. The women's division of this parish was led by Mrs. John J. Coughlin, Theresa Burke, Nora Burke and Winifred Coleman.

The Sacred Heart delegation, forming in Shattuck street, was led by Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., Rev. John H. Poberly, O.M.I., Bryan McFadden, Stephen Flynn, Joseph McOsker and George Brennan.

Rev. Charles J. Galligan, Rev. Stephen J. Murray, James P. F. Hennessy, Robert R. Thomas, John J. Roark, Thomas J. O'Donnell, and John Barrett headed St. Margaret's delegation which formed in Middle and Shattuck streets.

St. Columba's delegation, forming in Palmer street, was headed by Rev. Patrick J. Halley, Warren P. Rordan and Lieut. Timothy M. Tully.

The delegations formed promptly, and it was shortly after 2 o'clock when the procession began wending its way down Merrimack street with the O.M.I. Cadet Drum corps beating a muffled drum. The long procession was led by a cordon of police commanded by Supt. Redmond Welch. They were followed by color-bearers carrying the national colors and the flag of the Irish republic. Patrick J. Mahoney, president of the local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, was chief marshal. Capt. Francis J. Kierce was chief of staff and Thomas B. Delaney adjutant. Representatives of the various organizations in the city and others prominent in the Irish movement served as aids.

Carry Draped Caskets

Following the chief marshal's staff came three caskets draped in black and bearing the colors of the Irish republic, borne on the shoulders of a delegation of Irish volunteers. An escort of Irish guards, commanded by Major Daly and Captain McDermott, followed.

A delegation of former service men, with Rev. William Mahan, O.M.I., chaplain of the Lowell post of the American Legion, was next in line. Then came the delegations from the various parishes headed by that from St. Patrick's. The procession went down Merrimack street, up Central to Middlesex, to South and then to the South common. It took nearly an hour for it to pass a given spot.

On the common the paraders and thousands of spectators crowded around the bandstand. On the stand, in addition to the various officials in charge of the affair, the chief marshals' staff and the clergymen already mentioned, were Right Rev. William O'Brien, P.M., pastor of St. Patrick's church; Rev. Daniel J. Keleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church; Rev. Fr. Galligan of St. Margaret's, Rev. Fr. Halley of St. Columba's, Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I., of the Sacred Heart, together with Rev. Fr. Keenan, the eulogist, and many other clergymen of the local churches.

GOV. COX'S LAST PLEA

Declares His Visits to 36 States Convinced Him Country Wants League

DAYTON, O., Nov. 1.—Gov. Cox passed yesterday resting at Trailsend, his home near Dayton, for the final speech of his campaign at Toledo tonight. Members of his family were with him most of the day, but later in the afternoon he crumpled alone through the forest. His only political conference, he said, was a brief long-distance telephone talk with Chairman White in New York.

In a statement last night, the governor said that the election of Senator Harding will mean that the peace treaty will not be submitted to the senate for ratification, which, he added, will result in "controversy and confusion." His visits to 36 states, he declared, convinced him that the sentiment of the country favors America's entry into the league.

"The events of the campaign are so clear in their significance," said his statement, "that the voter who is conscientious, rather than prejudiced, senses the difference between an election result which means the certain achievement of the nation's hopes on the one hand, and continued uncertainty and confusion on the other."

Issue Clear, Declares Cox

"I am in favor of going into the league; Senator Harding is in favor of staying out. I am concerned about clarification; he is concerned about rejection. These are the outstanding words of the campaign."

Gov. Cox said he will not submit the treaty of peace to the senate as it is, but that he will change it.

Since the president is without the right to make any alteration, this means that he will not submit it at all. This will result in one thing, and one thing only, in controversy and confusion.

"When the men and women go into the voting booths it is their duty to remember the pledge that was given in the name of America and it is proper at this time to ask whether we are going to maintain the nation's honor."

"The happiness of our people is dependent in part upon their opportunity to labor. Therefore, our prosperity, as it is to be affected in financial affairs, is a vital consideration. The chaotic state of things in a part of the world cannot go on much longer without the backwash striking the very foundations of our commercial institutions. Unless we go into the League of Nations there is no guarantee against the waste of resources in the maintenance of armies and navies, and unless this waste is halted, national credit overseas is out of the question."

"I have faith in the conscience of America. It has given a pledge that it did not redeem and no great moral question has ever failed when it was submitted to the judgment of the people. If we turn our thoughts to the graves of the 31,000 brave American boys who now sleep in Europe, our souls tell us what to do. The highway of civilization is lined with the maimed and disabled. If we assemble the philanthropic heart of the world and mold it into a concrete movement of helpfulness, our duty will have been done. Otherwise, the morality of nations has failed."

"Suffering humanity waits upon the vote of America. The verdict of Nov. 2 means joy or despair, world-wide."

Cox Plans Long Vacation

The governor with his party arrived early yesterday from Chicago, where he virtually completed his campaign, spending Saturday to thousands of voters in several addresses. His last words of the campaign will be spoken at Toledo, he leaving Dayton this afternoon for that city.

As soon as the election is over Gov. Cox plans a long vacation, probably of several weeks, on a hunting trip in Mississippi. Although he has received several invitations for a post-election rest, the Mississippi hunting trip, as the guest of Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the democratic speakers' bureau, is said to have been virtually decided upon and will be made regardless of the election result.

The governor is an expert shot, whether with rifle or shotgun, and has hunted in many parts of the country.

A plantation near Pascagoula, Miss., owned by a friend of Senator Harrison, will be the base of Gov. Cox's hunting trips. It is said to be near one of the hunting grounds of President Roosevelt.

When the governor returns home from Toledo election morning he will have traveled in his campaign nearly 22,000 miles, according to an unofficial estimate, a record, it is believed, for any presidential candidate. During his travels, which have been virtually continuous since his notification Aug. 7, Gov. Cox made 394 addresses, excluding innumerable other brief talks, greetings and receptions. It is estimated he has spoken to 2,000,000 persons.

The governor has spoken in 36 states, all except Maine and Vermont in New England, and Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas of the "solid south."

Despite the great tax upon his voice and bodily strength, Gov. Cox finished his campaign in tip-top condition, with only "speakers' hoarseness." He is tanned a ruddy bronze and has lost virtually no weight.

SPOKE ON AMERICA IN WORLD CRISIS

"It would be a great tragedy if a republican victory should mean our country's repudiation of her responsibilities to the rest of the world," said D. Brewer Eddy, junior secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in a sermon in Highland Congregational church yesterday morning. He spoke on the topic "America in the World Crisis."

Expect Record Vote Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Rain was forecast for some sections of the state tomorrow, but political managers declared today the vote would be the largest ever recorded. Although up-state registration figures were not available, party leaders estimated there are 3,468,000 eligible voters. Of these 1,500,000 are women, who will exercise the privilege of casting a ballot for a presidential candidate for the first time. Two years ago they voted for governor and other state officers. Governor Smith, democratic candidate for re-election, expected to remain at his home here, and his opponent, Nathan L. Miller was back at his home in Syracuse. The fight conducted by the socialists in New York city for re-election of the five ousted members of the assembly is attracting attention.

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 1.—Eleven persons involved in recent disorders here were convicted of conspiracy today and were given sentences varying from one to three years. Five Young Men and Women Injured

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Five preparatory school students and a young woman friend were injured when their automobile crashed into a tree near Hunter's island bridge, in Pelham Bay park early today. The party was bound from New Haven to New York on the New Rochelle road, and Philip Morgan Plant was driving the car. The young men all are pupils at a preparatory school at Norwalk, Conn.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press-Agents

OPERA HOUSE

"Friendly Enemies," the play that received the unqualified endorsement of three presidents, Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft, will be the offering for the present week by the Lowell Players at the Opera House. There's not the slightest doubt but that the announcement of the coming of this high class production will be greeted with enthusiastic acclaim by all lovers of the better class of plays. To pass on the worth of this internationally famous comedy, which has been playing continuously for almost three years in all of the large cities and towns of the United States and Great Britain, is needless at this time, for it is too well known to the large majority of playgoers. Suffice it to say that it has all of the happy and pleasing elements that go to make up a delightful and genuinely satisfying comedy drama. One critic termed it "One of the greatest theatrical properties of the last decade." The timeliness of the play; its wonderful blending of comedy and pathos; its tender love and powerful human interest have combined in making it more popular than most of the big successes of the recent past. The authors are Samuel Shipman and Aaron Hoffman, both among the foremost American playwrights.

Director Jack Bennett promises a finished production for local consumption. He will give his best efforts to it and this assures the patrons of a most satisfying presentation. Miss Marguerite Fields, Milton Byron, Miss Friscilla Knowles and Mr. Bennett will be found in characterizations that will give them ample chance of displaying their exceptional talent. The others of the company will also be found assigned to congenial roles.

The advance sale of tickets is already large, indicating a record engagement for the week. Better get your tickets as early as possible. Box office open daily from 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Tel. 281.

NEWBURN SQUARE THEATRE

The loyalty and love of the women of the south during the civil war are admirably depicted in a new, striking pictorialization of William Gillette's famous stage success, "Held by the Enemy," which opened a three days' engagement at the Newburn Square theatre this afternoon. Another fine tribute has been paid the noted playwright in the screening of this, one of his most powerful dramatic creations. "Held by the Enemy" is a picture that will touch the heart of the most hardened spectator, a story that will impress on all who see it the beauty of sacrifice and love. A cast representing the best talent of the screen profession was chosen to interpret the important roles. Among those who take part are Agnes Ayres, Wanda Hawley, Jack Holt and Robert Brower. The other big feature for the first half of the week is "The Blue Moon," a stirring dramatic creation; a Ben Turpin comedy, the International News and Topics of the Day.

THE STRAND

Geraldine Farrar, grand opera and screen star, will appear in her latest picture success, "The Riddle Woman," at The Strand for the first three days of the week, commencing with matinee today. Miss Farrar, the star gloriola, is as fascinating as Mona Lisa in her portrayal of "The Riddle Woman." Her complex personality, her illogical emotion, her exquisite language, her vibrant appeal, her passionate vitality reflect the mystery of a woman's heart. She is dazzling in her gorgeous gowns, fascinating in her feminine appeal, triumphant in her dramatic art. See her in this

RIALTO THEATRE

"The Master Mind," with Lionel Barrymore appearing as the leading character, is the big attraction at the Rialto theatre for the three first days of this week. It is an absorbing story of intrigue and hate used by a brilliant

FUNERAL OF MACSWINEY

Thousands Pay Tribute to
Newest Irish Martyr—Buried at Cork Yesterday

CORK, Nov. 1.—(By Associated Press)—In the presence of surprised church dignitaries, scores of his former comrades and thousands of his countrymen, the body of Terence MacSwiney was lowered to its resting place in the "Republican plot" in St. Finbar's cemetery, just outside Cork yesterday afternoon.

Despite the splendor lent the scene by the attendance of the high churchmen, there was a simplicity marking the ceremonies that was impressive. Outside the cemetery, hidden by the enormous crush of townspeople, two armored cars, with machine guns ready, and a half dozen lorries filled with fully equipped soldiers, were drawn up at the roadside, imparting a sinister air to the otherwise solemn proceedings. But during the transfer of the body from the city hall, through the streets lined with crowds, to St. Mary's Cathedral, and during the procession from the Cathedral to the cemetery, there was not an incident of violence or disturbance.

Buried Beside MacCurtain

The city of Cork and the whole countryside paid tribute to the memory of their "newest martyr." The body was buried beside that of former Lord Mayor MacCurtain, who was assassinated. A few yards away are the graves of Joseph Murphy, who, like MacSwiney, died a hunger striker in Cork jail, adorned with an American flag, and of two other Irish republican soldiers.

Archbishop Harry of Cashel occupied the throne in presiding over the solemn requiem mass in St. Mary's cathedral. Mr. Conahan, Bishop of Cork, was the celebrant. The clergy assisting included Archbishops Clune of Perth, Australia, and Barry of Hobart, Tasmania, and Bishops Browne of Cloyne, O'Sullivan of Kerry, Foley of Ballarat, Australia, and Fogarty of Killaloe.

The Irish republican flag-draped coffin rested on a catafalque, covered with a pall, with a skull and cross-bones on either side, such as is used at the obsequies of high churchmen.

The cathedral was filled and thousands of persons were massed in the adjacent streets.

The transfer of the casket from the city hall was without incident. Two armored cars and five lorries of troops kept in the background as the cortege moved to the church.

Thousands Bare Heads

The two-mile route of the procession from the cathedral to the cemetery was solidly flanked by thousands of persons, who bared their heads as the flag-draped casket, borne on the shoulders of the mayor's brothers and intimate friends, passed by.

When the services at the cathedral ended and the procession formed under the supervision of the Irish Volunteers moved off slowly, the cathedral bell began tolling. This was immediately echoed by the bells of the other churches in the city. John Peter MacSwiney, brother of the dead mayor, acted as chief coffin bearer. Father Dominic, MacSwiney's private chaplain, and Arthur Griffith, vice-president of the "Irish republic," came immediately behind him. One hundred and eighty priests headed the procession. They were followed by acolytes and high church dignitaries. Then came two flower-burdened hearses, a company of Volunteers dressed in citizens' clothes and 25 carriages with women mourners.

Volunteers, each of them carrying floral pieces formed an outer column on each side of the procession. A cord of Volunteers held back the solid lines of bare-headed spectators who overran the sidewalks. A number of wreaths sent by Americans were noticeable among the floral pieces in the hearses.

As the clergy were filing away from the graveside after the body had been lowered six men who were admitted within the circle formed by the Volunteers took positions over the grave and fired a revolver salute of three volleys and silently withdrew.

Mr. Griffith in paying a tribute to MacSwiney's life work in the service of the Irish cause declared that Joan of Arc "would find in the martyred lord mayor a worthy comrade in heaven."

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinski.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."

Mrs. A. KWARCINSKI, 5627 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the change of life.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its virtue.

PRES. WILSON'S NAME BRINGS WILD APPLAUSE

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—Symphony hall rang with cheers last night when the following telegram from President Woodrow Wilson was read by John F. Moors, chairman of the public meeting that was being held in the interests of the League of Nations:

"Hon. John F. Moors: 'If I could be present to give proof of my great interest in the noble objects of your meeting. Never before have our people been called upon to pass judgment upon so vital an issue.'"

"I am confident that we can rely upon the men and women of all parties in Massachusetts to support and sustain the great cause of the League of Nations."

"WOODROW WILSON."

It was a notable meeting for a Sunday evening. The hall was packed and whenever the name of President Wilson was mentioned there was intense applause. The name was mentioned in a casual way at first by Chairman Moors and he was rather astonished at the sudden burst of applause all over the hall. Then a little later, after referring to the 20 wounded ex-soldiers present he said he was one of those who have lost Tuesday wounded and stricken "the one great hero of the war—"

Before he could say the name the applause began and the audience rose and continued the applause some moments.

Chairman Moors then said: "That is good. I did not have to mention his name."

Speakers Plead for League

And there was a great list of speakers, beginning with Ray Stannard Baker. Then came Prof. Frank W. Taussig; Miss Margaret Prescott Montague, the West Virginia author; Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers, Prof. Charles H. Haskins and Hamilton Holt, secretary of the League to Enforce Peace.

There were 100 or more prominent persons on the platform and in the audience were prominent persons from all over Greater Boston. The only question asked was at the end when a speaker near the platform asked Hamilton Holt what could be expected for Ireland under the League of Nations with Article 10 "as is."

Mr. Holt said that curiously enough Great Britain has just established a precedent herself under which the United States or any other power could call up the Irish question in the League of Nations. It was the case of the Aland Islands which threatened war between Sweden and Finland and which Finland protested was a "domestic question."

Great Britain took the position it was a question that threatened peace and was of vital interest, in consequence to other nations, and asked that it be taken up by the League of Nations. Sweden agreed to this, and the court of the league, or body to which it was referred as to the right of the League to consider the question, has reported that it is a subject for the league. Further, when such a question as the Irish question is introduced, it is by a majority vote and not by unanimous consent, as are so many other questions.

Mr. Hope said there was no doubt but Mr. Cox if elected would surely bring the Irish question before the league.

Although the meeting was non-partisan every speaker insisted that the only way to get a League of Nations was to accept the present covenant with such reservations as seemed desirable and the way to get that was to vote for Cox and Roosevelt. And this suggestion always seemed to meet with hearty approval.

MONUMENT DEDICATED BY ODD FELLOWS

More than a thousand persons were present at the exercises in Westview cemetery yesterday afternoon dedicating a memorial monument on the lot of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, Manchester Unity.

Preceding the dedication there was a parade from Odd Fellows' building in Middlesex street to the cemetery.

At the head of the line was the U. S. Carriage company band. Past Grand Fred L. Broughton was the band guide. Gilbert Hunt was chief marshal and Past Grand Fred M. Silk, chief of staff.

Members of the general committee wearing regalia, acted as aides.

Following in line came the members of the uniformed rank under command of Willis Bowles. Next came the members of the four local lodges.

The program at the cemetery opened with the playing of Kellor's American hymn by the band followed by prayer by Rev. Nathaniel W. Matthews. Provincial Grand Master Edward Thompson delivered a brief address at the close of which Mayor Perry D. Thompson was introduced.

The mayor congratulated the Odd Fellows on having erected a beautiful memorial to departed members of the order. He said that it would impress upon future generations that Odd Fellows do not forget.

While the band played "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," Past Grand Isaac Tinker, Lowell's oldest Manchester Unity Odd Fellow, loosened the cord that held a black covering in place and the monument was unveiled.

Rev. B. G. Seaboyer of Wakefield delivered an oration in which he praised the Odd Fellows for having made the golden rule a practical affair in the world. He said that they had not sought to take the place of the church but had endeavored to relieve the misery and suffering of mankind. He said that the monument was erected to honor men who had lived the life of "friendship, love and truth," and that the principles that these words represent should not perish from the earth.

The national anthem was played and benediction pronounced by Mr. Matthews.

WE'RE BACK AGAIN TO THE OLD TIME

Lowell's activities are now running again according to the old or standard time after six months' regulation according to so-called daylight saving time. Two o'clock yesterday morning was the official hour for turning back hands of watches and clocks one hour, but most people made the change before retiring Saturday evening. Yesterday's church services were held according to standard time. The Boston & Maine and Eastern Massachusetts Street Railway Co. reported little confusion on their roads as a result of the change.

been befogged so that many voters will find it difficult to know exactly how to register their opinions when it comes to marking their ballots.

The Wilson Administration

Aside from the league issue the republicans have dealt upon the alleged short-comings of the Wilson administration as a reason for placing their in power. This is something of a two-edged sword for the reason that a large number of people appreciate very keenly what the administration accomplished in taking the country through its part in the greatest war in the world's history.

Political prophets on both sides are engaged in telling the world how the election is to turn out. This is a recognized part of the activities of the national chairmen and political writers on the day before election. It is the old rule of leaders on both sides to claim everything in sight with the intention of influencing the voters who put off deciding how they are to cast their ballots until the eleventh hour for the purpose of having a chance to climb on board the band wagon of the candidates that they think will be victorious.

From the uncertainty that surrounds the League of Nations issue, and the fact that no one can even guess how the women are likely to vote, reliable prediction on the outcome is impossible. At best it may be said that the wisest prophet this year is a guesser and that one guess may be about as good as any other.

Mr. Palmer received the assistance Saturday evening of Miss Gertrude Frances Hayes of Boston, who spoke at six rallies urging soldiers to vote for Palmer as a man who had served in the trenches in France and would look out for the interests of the service men. Miss Hayes had heard of Mr. Palmer's war record and volunteered to speak in his behalf.

As a closing gun of the campaign, Mr. Palmer charged this morning that an attempt had been made at Woburn to drag the American legion into politics by supporters of John Jacob Rogers. He asserted that, although the legion eschews politics in compliance with its constitution the Rogers forces advertised two of the officers of the legion as speakers in Woburn Saturday night. The advertisement, it is claimed, asserted that the officers were to speak on the bonus question. He asserts that when the rally opened two other speakers appeared and turned the gathering into a Rogers rally.

Meeting for Sparks

A rousing meeting of the supporters of John T. Sparks, democratic candidate for the seat in the state senate now held by Frank H. Putnam, was held in Eiks hall yesterday afternoon. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm shown for Mr. Sparks' candidacy.

Last week the candidate held many successful rallies; that at the Merrimack mills having been one of the most satisfactory of its kind in the history of the city.

CLOSE OF THE CAMPAIGN

Today the great political contest of the nation closes and tomorrow will begin the rain of ballots all over the land to register the will of the sovereign people.

During the progress of the campaign, it was inevitable that some harsh things should have been said and some very indiscreet things done, but every good American citizen will flow to the will of the majority when announced tomorrow night or Wednesday morning, whether that shows that our party candidates have been triumphantly elected or buried in defeat.

Here we have majority rule in which every citizen has an equal share and it would show disloyalty to our constitution if those who happen to find their favorite candidates beaten at the polls should refuse to accept the result in the good American spirit. During this campaign The Sun as usual stood for the democratic ticket, and today we can say that it appears that Governor Cox's chances of election are immeasurably improved over what they were two weeks ago—so much so indeed that the leaders are very confident of his election. From the ranks of the republican party there has been a widespread stampede of men of prominence to the standard of Governor Cox. The reason given is something like the following:

"I am going to vote for Cox and Roosevelt because I believe they represent the better side of every question at issue in this campaign, and I believe a vote for Cox and Roosevelt is a vote to end war."

Such is the sentiment very generally expressed among those who are bolting the republican ticket.

Others object to the vacillating policy of Senator Harding as shown by his speeches which are so contradictory that the man stands self-confounded before the nation. Such an exhibition on the part of the president of the United States would cause decent Americans to blush with shame, so different is it from what they have been accustomed to hear from their chief executives.

Harding had so involved himself in an array of contradictions that Governor Coolidge tried to extricate him from the tangle, but the task was one that neither candor nor diplomacy could accomplish.

What voter, for example, can reconcile these contradictory statements? It will avail nothing to discuss in detail the League covenant, which was conceived for world super-government, negotiated in misunderstanding, and intolerably urged and demanded by its administration sponsors.—Warren G. Harding at Marion.

Cox favors going into the League. I favor staying out. I am not interested in clarification. I am interested in rejection.—Warren G. Harding at Des Moines.

Senator Harding has been charged with saying that he was seeking rejection of the entire covenant. He never said that. He in context with nearly all the people, desires the rejection of certain obligations of the covenant.—Calvin Coolidge at New York.

Some have attempted to misrepresent Senator Harding, but without success. He has taken the position firmly that our people in east and west have an overwhelmingly opposition to the League. . . . His utterances at the Des Moines meeting will satisfy any bitterer or irreconcilable.—Hiram Johnson at Chicago.

As if these and hundreds of other inconsistencies were not sufficient to disgust the voters, the republican leaders are held responsible for sending forth to the country an offensive cartoon making a mockery of the religious belief of millions of American voters.

It is true that the candidates and Chairman Hays repudiated this cartoon when they discovered that it had given offense, but if they had not been swayed by disregard for sacred things they would not have allowed the cartoon to appear anywhere, much less in the official organ of the republican national committee.

On the heels of this the treasurer of the republican national committee sent out an appeal for funds in a manner that is deliberately planned as an evasion of the law forbidding corporations to contribute to campaign funds. This appeal has caused a sensation all over the country and will stand as an attempt to get around the provisions of a law intended expressly for the purification of politics.

In contradistinction to these erratic methods, the democratic campaign has been conducted on very limited expenditures and upon unimpeachable lines. Governor Cox has not been operated as a marionette by leaders from the rear. He stood firmly upon the platform adopted at San Francisco, appealing for the League of Nations in some form and for the other reforms advocated without trying to evade responsibility or twist the issue into a new form.

His campaign has been open, aggressive, democratic and logical. He has presented persuasive arguments in support of every position he has taken and he has had to retract none of his statements, much less repudiate them or have somebody else do it for him. Cox has proved himself a man of ability who is well equipped by nature, training and experience for the high office of president; but Senator Harding has wavered and wobbled until, unless we are mistaken, he has disgusted a majority of his own party. If republicans stand by their party in this election, it will be out of admiration for their candidate, but in spite of his exhibition of weakness, confusion and inconsistency.

LET EVERYBODY VOTE

The Sun urges every one of its readers, who is qualified, to vote tomorrow. Vote some way or other. Every person of intelligence must, by this time, have formed some opinion regarding the candidates and issues involved in the campaign. It is desirable that that opinion shall be expressed. It is of prime importance that the result of the balloting show the desires and wishes of as large a portion of the electorate as possible. If it does, we can all settle down with the assurance that, whatever policies or men are given approval, they represent the will of the people, and that is democracy in operation.

It seems to us that the democratic party holds out the greater inducements to the patriotic voter animated solely by a desire to mark his ballot in the way that will best safeguard and advance the interests of the state and nation. It is the party that represents the people; that has battled and is battling for their rights against the forces of social, political and financial autocracy in control of the republican party.

As to the presidency, James M. Cox has shown himself a man of ability and aggressiveness who wears no man's collar and who has expressed his opinions forcibly and definitely. On the other hand, Senator Harding, since the opening of the campaign, has shown himself to be without settled views on any of the great issues of the day. He has not seemed to know his own mind over night.

As regards the local candidates on the democratic ticket, from governor down to representative, they are as clean, honorable and able a body of men as ever presented themselves before an electorate. A vote for them is a vote not only in favor of putting the state government in control of officials who will faithfully perform the duties of their several positions, but it is a vote to end a rule of graft, waste and incompetence on Beacon Hill that has become almost insupportable.

VOTE EARLY

Again we would impress upon all citizens the necessity of getting to the polls to vote as early as possible. In some factories special facilities will be afforded for letting the employees out to vote; but in others the operatives must vote either at noon or after working hours. The fact that the polls keep open till 6 o'clock will favor those who cannot vote during mill hours.

In view of the split in the republican ranks over the election of a lieutenant governor, the democratic candidate, Marcus Coolidge, should be elected by a substantial plurality. The same is true of the democratic candidate for state treasurer. In each of these contests there are compelling reasons why even republicans should support the democratic candidates. Where the opposition is weak or demoralized the democrats should put forth their greatest efforts.

If the commission on infantile paralysis decides to hold a clinic in this city, it should have the most cordial co-operation of the local health authorities and the entire community. The disease is one with which most people are unfamiliar, yet it is so dangerous that parents of young children should know something of its symptoms and its treatment.

Some lumber firms have announced a reduction of 30 per cent. on house building lumber. They state that in order to keep faith with the public they should reduce the fare as promptly after a fall in wholesale prices as they followed those prices upward during the war.

The high fare on the electric cars may prove a serious obstacle to the voters of Dracut exercising the franchise tomorrow. The town is quite scattered and the cars irregular; but the fare is up to modern standards, and the zones shorter than usual.

It has been known for only about thirty years that $10,000 of Lowell water works bonds would be due November 1. Therefore the municipal council found it necessary to attach an emergency clause to the order providing for the retirement of the indebtedness.

The republican party offers to convey voters to the polls in autos. The fact that a republican jitney takes voters to the polls does not impose any obligation to vote the republican ticket.

Boxing gloves are to be put into the Chicago public schools. Shouldn't there also be included vocabularies of the sport that will facilitate familiarity with such choice terms as "hit him in the stats" and "knock his lambs out"?

It would be necessary to abrogate the constitutional clause against foreign and annual forms of pensioning to find suitable vengeance for Nebraska farmers if they carry out their threat to burn their grain to keep prices up.

Only Charter Expert Hatten Hitten sat squarely on the head when he said that one of the prime essentials of good municipal government is that all of the operations of its different branches shall be "visible."

The New York district attorney, who read the back of marked cards in court in an effort to convict a prisoner, should not be surprised if police are inquisitive to find out where he learned so much.

The republican leaders were always strong on claims. Four years ago, it will be remembered, they predicted the election of Hughes by a sweeping majority.

A western judge has sentenced the machine of an automobile speedster to an indeterminate term in the jail basement. (A Daniel come to judgment.)

The G.O.P. judgment in selecting a carbonist seems to have been, if possible, a little worse than was shown in picking candidates.

Presumed on Evidence

A woman lurching with a cuban on a station to take her into the town with her parrots and cats, a dog, the boxes and the baskets.

Cuban—"Beggin' your pardon, ma'am, but you ain't expecting a flood, I hope."

"Dear me, no; whatever made you ask that?"

"I thought I'd ask," said John, "cos I ain't certain as 'ow my horse can swim, and I fancied that you were a-takin' my key for a Noah's ark!"—Tid-Bits.

The Blush

When one blushes, the face, and frequently the neck changes shade, almost reaching crimson. But how is that brought about? Because of some mental excitement there is a certain stimulation of the nerves. Following that stimulation the arteries become a trifle larger and more red blood flows through them. And the added red blood shows through the skin and the blush results. It was Mark Twain who one time called the world's attention to the blush in his original way. "Man is the only animal that blushes," Mark said, and then put the point to his statement by the postscript, "—or needs to."

Blushing may arise from many mental states—confusion, anger, self-consciousness, modesty, or shame, each may cause it. If one will mark it, children blush less than their elders. They have so much less to blush for, and besides, they are young and are not bothered with the developed mind upon which blush-causing conditions react.

The Land of Beginning Again
I wish that there were some wonderful places
Called the Land of Beginning Again,
Where all our mistakes and all our heartaches
And all our poor selfish grief
Could be dropped like a shabby coat at the door
And never be put on again.

I wish we could come on it all unaware,
Like the hunter who finds a lost trail.
And I wish that the one whom our blindness had done
The greatest injustice of all
Could be at the gates, like an old friend that waits
For the comrade he's gladdest to hail.

We would find all the things we've intended to do,
But forgot and remembered too late;
Little promises unspoken, little promises broken.
And all the thousand and one little duties neglected that might have perfected
The day for one less fortunate.

It wouldn't be possible not to be kind
In the Land of Beginning Again;
And the ones we misjudged and the ones whom we grudged
Their moments of victory here
Would find in the grasp of our lov-est friendship.
More than patient lips could explain.
For what had been hardest we'd know had been light.
And what had seemed lost would be gained;
For there isn't a sting that will not take wing
When we've faced it and laughed it away;
And I think that the laughter is most what we're after
In the Land of Beginning Again.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Most of us at times, I think, get a bit pessimistic. We wonder if this old world of ours is bound anywhere, and if it is, if it is making any progress toward its goal. As we look back to the election days of the good old times of the past—that were after all, not so distant a distance sometimes makes it seem—we can conclude that conditions are considerably better than they once were. It was common in a past, that is not so remote but that is well remembered by a middle-aged man, to buy and sell votes as openly as one would buy and sell a pair of shoes or a pair of socks. It is not referring to Lowell particularly. It is used to be the practice for the political parties to supply their own ballots which were printed on different colored papers and of different sizes so that it was easy to know when a man slipped his vote into the ballot box exactly how he had exercised his franchise. It was a common enough thing for purchasable voters to hold out their ballots until just before the closing of the polls to get the highest possible price. When results were close, the quotations were often high. A farmer in a neighboring town, with six votes in his family, was notorious for always leading his flock to the polls just as they were about to close. It was known that on one occasion he carried home $500 on election night as the price of the votes that he had to deliver. Sometimes a man would insist on payment in advance and then sneak in an opposition ballot. This led Rufus Burke of New Hampshire to express the axiom accepted of all political leaders of the time, that an honest man was one who would stay bought. I have seen brass chimes handed out to men who had voted "right," redeemable in drinks at the nearest saloon.

presented at the exercises by a large delegation.

The Formal Exercises
Chief Marshal Mahoney opened the exercises shortly after 4:15 by explaining briefly the purpose of the gathering and outlining the program of exercises.

REV. FR. KEENAN'S EULOGY
Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. Patrick's church was then introduced, and his eulogy of the late lord mayor and his brother hunger strikers was as follows:

"Inspiring, indeed, is the spectacle upon which we gaze at this solemn moment. Thousands of devoted men and women, animated by the same sublime sentiments of faith and patriotism, have gathered here today to honor the immortal memory of Ireland's noblest martyrs. It is a touching scene. We weep for the dead, whom in life we have never known. We pray for God's mercy upon their heroic souls. As citizens of a nation that holds aloft the lamp of liberty, we pay our homage to the latest martyrs on the altars of freedom. As Catholics, sharing with them the blessings of the faith, we bow our heads in prayer.

"By the eminence of his learning, and by the high post committed to him by his government, Terence MacSwiney, in death, has shed the greatest lustre on his nation. Poet, scholar, statesman, patriot—he will be set it all aside, and to be known as Ireland's martyr. He needs no eulogy. His life and death speak for themselves. Even at this moment, as we gather to revere his memory, the four corners of the earth are paying tribute to a patriot-martyr such as the world has never seen. Long before the Christian faith illumined the mind of man, Horace wrote that it was a sweet and beautiful thing to die for one's native land. The articulate voice of our blessed Lord, enunciated in divine clearness the full import of this sentiment: "Greater love than this no man hath, that a man lay down his life for his friends." And this is his greatest pang: that he laid down his life that others might live. He gave his life to his country, but with the true Irish instinct, characteristic of the ancient faith, he offered his sacrifice to Almighty God. MacSwiney the patriot and MacSwiney the Catholic shall be known in all succeeding ages as the heroic martyr of 1920.

WORSHIPED AS HEROES

"The world loves a hero. Whether it be the ancient Greek, who stood aloft and held the pass at Thermopylae, or the fearless man who led the 60 into the Valley of Death, or our own patriot, said that he had but one life to give for his country—we have worshipped them as heroes for their daring and self-sacrifice. But I hold it an extravagance to say that today we honor a hero unparalleled in history. The babe of glory that illumines the memory of Terence MacSwiney illumines the brilliance of the patriot we have learned to honor. His sacrifice knows no equal. He laid down his life, not in the glimmer of battle, but in the darkness of a prison cell. His struggle was not encouraged by the applause of comrades, but was made in the camp of the outcast, witnessed only by his faithful wife. The odds against him were not overpowering—they were crushing. Others offered their lives once. He made the same offering three times every day. Rather than break his oath of allegiance, he refused to eat the bread of treason. His own love, his country's honor, he loved more than life itself. Hero that he was, his living, lingering, torturing death made him a hero greater still.

HIS HEROIC SOUL

"MacSwiney the patriot—yes, and MacSwiney the Christian. His patriotism, like the indelible impress of the faith of his fathers. His sacrifice and death are exalted by these sublime virtues which reveal the Christian character of his heroic soul. Well did he know, and often had he been taught that the earth is the Lord's and the fullness thereof, that unless the Lord build the house, the laborer in vain that he build it; and unless the Lord keep the city, he will watch in vain that keepeth it. He trusted in God's providence, and even in the darkest hour of his misery, this ray of divine light illumined and gladdened his soul. His resignation and his sacrifice were the fruit of his trust in God. He did not ask that he be spared, for he knew that when freedom would come to his country's shores, he did not look to his own efforts to conquer the enemy. In God was his trust, and he resigned himself to all else. Sons of St. Francis in whose Third Order he was enrolled, he had the child-like confidence in God of his seraphic patron.

PERFECT RESIGNATION

"So, he entered upon his martyrdom in perfect resignation to his suffering. No murmur of complaint came from his tortured lips; no rebellion from his noble soul. In the silence of his cell, supported only by his faithful confessor, and strengthened by the grace of the sacraments, he prayed alone with God. When his body was racked with pain, this true Christian nobleman breathed "Thy will be done." The Irish martyr rendered to his Redeemer the sufferings of the prison as a millionth of Christ's gift to him. Each pain and each pang he offered as a holocaust to God. He took suffering from its natural sphere and gave it a spiritual character. The triumph of his death on earth is but a dim shadow of his triumph before his crucified Lord in heaven.

"What a noble picture! What strength in weakness; what power in captivity; what victory in death. Patriot and Christian, his name is honored, his memory cherished and his heroism immortalized forever.

"In his own words, let him address us today. In the poem, written before he was sent to Brixton prison, he reveals the nobility of his soul and the strength of his character. The patriot and the Christian speaks to us in every line."

Rev. Fr. Keenan then read one of Lord Mayor MacSwiney's recent poems, "God, We Enter Our Last Fight."

McSWINEY'S LAST POEM
God, we enter our last fight;
Thou dost see our cause is right;
Make us march now in Thy sight
On to victory.
Let us not Thy wrath deserve
In the sacred cause we serve;
Let us not from danger swerve;
Teach us how to die.
Death for some is in reserve
Before our flags can fly.

All the agony of years,
All the horrors, all the fears,
Martyr's blood, survivors' tears,
Now we offer Thee
As an endless holocaust
For the freedom we have lost.
God restore it though the cost
Greater still must be;
Let Thy grace attend our host,
Give us victory.

See, we open our own hearts;
Every wrong that in them smarts,
Every secret pain that starts,
We, too, offer Thee.
Every dearest home's distress,
Every fear that rocks our peace,
Every cross with pain's increase,
Flurried though we be;
Sacrifice that shall not cease
Till our land be free.

Thou holdst freedom in Thy hand;
Thou canst liberate our land;
Hear us; yea, our one demand—
Ireland's liberty.

We ask not her chains to rive,
And the sacred deed survive,
That we may rejoice alive
In her victory.

We but ask that she shall thrive,
And rest our fate with Thee.

We know not what must befall
Marching at our country's call;
Make us strong who must yield all
That she may not die.
Those who shall survive the fight,
Still attend them with Thy light;
Then, our hope in darkest night,
Then their guardian be,
And hold our dear land in Thy sight
Erect, firm and free.

Recite the Rosary

Chief Marshal Mahoney then introduced Rev. Dr. Keleher, who led in the recitation of the rosary. The thousands of men in the crowd sang with heads bowed and the women bowed as the prayers were said. The scene was most impressive. The exercises closed with the singing of three volleys over the caskets and the sounding of taps.

THE HARVARD COMPANY

Stockholders Receive First 25 Per Cent as Result of Liquidation of the Company's Assets

The first 25 per cent of the payment to be made stockholders of the Harvard Co., formerly the Harvard Brewing Co., as a result of the liquidation of the assets of the company, has just been made by the liquidating committee and all stockholders have received a check for one-fourth of the amount due them in proportion to the amount of stock they hold.

The payment is made from assets already collected by the liquidating committee on the basis of 25 per cent of the par value of the capital stock. Further payments will be made by the liquidating committee in the near future. The letter which was sent to each stockholder with the check for the amount due him is signed by James R.

Nicholson, president, and Charles L. Marren, clerk.

The Harvard Co. was dissolved several months ago by vote of the stockholders and a liquidating committee appointed to collect its assets and turn them into cash. Much of this work has already been done.

NOTICE TO VOTERS.

The board of election commissioners calls attention to the fact that the polling place of precinct 1 of ward 2 has been changed from the booth formerly at the junction of Merrimack and Coburn streets to the reading room in the basement of the city library. Conspicuous signs have been posted on the entrance to the reading room, but it is feared that many voters of this precinct will fail to vote when they see the former polling place removed.

FITCHBURG HIGH

DEFEATS LOWELL

Against the Fitchburg high school football team, an eleven much heavier and more experienced than the locals, Lowell high school put up a good battle at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon. Fitchburg won by the score of 14 to 0. There is much to be said to Lowell's credit for holding the visitors to two touchdowns, because they have raised havoc with other and stronger teams in the state this season and ran up a score of 21 to 0 against Lawrence high. From the play, Lowell's team work, snap and good line punning was evident on the part of Fitchburg.

If it were not for the stiff front that Lowell presented during the first half the score would have been much higher. At that time Lowell seemed fully able for its opponents and carried the ball the length of the field several times by combinations of end runs and line plunges. In this work Liston, Cahill and McAdams were the mainstays. Whether or not it was because of the loss of G. McAdams, forced to withdraw in the second quarter from injury to his ankle, Lowell weakened in the second half and could not hold Fitchburg.

All attempts at forward passing by Lowell seemed to fail utterly, contrary to brilliant success in previous games and this proved its undoing to a great extent. Liston still retains his snappy generalship of the team, but on Saturday he did not play as good as usual. His line blocking was good.

The loss of McAdams in the second half evidently hampered his work. The first touchdown was made during the last few seconds of the first half. There was considerable dispute as to whether time was up when Fitchburg pushed the ball over the goal line, but the referee ruled that the ball was in motion when the whistle for the half was blown. Some of the crowd hissed and booed the officials against Lowell.

The features of the second quarter were the open field stunts of Fitchburg. Cahill also made a long end-run of 40 yards which looked like a touchdown, and Normandin proved strong in the crowd.

The Fitchburg backs began to find the holes in Lowell's line and took advantage several times, one of them breaking away and slipping through Liston's hands and dashing for the goal. He was overtaken, however, on the 10-yard line at this point a Fitchburg forward pass was snatched right out of the receiver's hands by a Lowell man behind the goal line. Lowell first down was on a yard from the 20 yard line and G. McAdams made a long end run assisted by good interference by Normandin. In the last two periods Fitchburg took the offensive and on repeated line plunges through guard and tackle won the second touchdown. In the line plunging it was mainly averdups that counted against Lowell.

Shorty runs into "Snapper" Leebo!

Atlanta, Ga.

Wednesday

DEAR PETE:

Checked up our old dormitory pal "Snapper" Teebo this morning while waiting on an appointment down Peachtree St. "Snap" wanted to know a bucketfull about my visit to the Camel factories. "Sell us, old apple seed," says Snapper, "you're on the inside!" "Snapper" still has that mighty annoying way of saying: "But that doesn't surprise me!" Pete, Someday I'll soak him. Maybe that will be a surprise!

Anyhow—when I explained about the millions of Camels, R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. made daily, what does the old bird sputter but:—"Why—Shorty, they'd have to make that many to supply the demand! Camels have the quality smokers want! And they have the most wonderful mellow mild body and the most refreshing flavor ever created in a Cigarette! Of course they make Camels by millions; of course they buy enough revenue stamps from Uncle Sam every work-day to build a duplicate of the Winston-Salem post office! Why not? Smokers insist on Camels!"

Then "Snap" got to spilling some real Camel selling stuff! "Shorty," says he, "write the Reynolds folks for me that I travel and talk some with the world in a year. And, I want you to put it on record that in all the times I've pulled Camels out of my pocket to supply somebody's shortage, I've heard enough fine things said about 'em to fill a fat volume! 'That's my brand', 'Camels are a wonderful Cigarette', 'gee, but this is like getting money from home', etc."

"And, Shorty, what's the answer? Why—Camels blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos meets the universal taste! That's it! Now, get me right—they ALL open their shutters for Camels! You'll find that all over the nation! And, that's the 'hole' story, old golf ball!"

Pete, you pet phonograph, did you ever hear a better record?

Sincerely Shorty.

To the Voters of the Fifth Congressional District

In my campaign I have discussed issues—without personalities, without abuse. I have not brought the "American Legion" into politics.

An eleventh hour rally was held in Woburn Saturday night for my opponent at which the commander of the Lowell Post of the American Legion was billed as speaker.

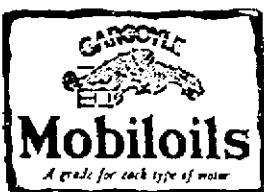

Needless to say he did not speak. I regard this as a desperate attempt to deceive the voters of Woburn. I call on my opponent to disclaim such methods.

INDIANS WIN FROM CAMP DEVENS ELEVEN

The Indians won a hard fought game from the Camp Devens eleven on the fair grounds yesterday afternoon by the score of 20 to 13.

Several thousand people were on the side line and were treated to some high class football. In the college lineup were many former college and high school stars, including Curry, who in 1916 while playing with the University of Virginia, was selected by Walter Camp for his second all-American team.

Curry, who has put on considerable weight since 1916, did not start in the game, but later went in and starred in an exemplification of the aerial game. He played full back. His throwing was wonderful, particularly in the first half of the game. In the last half, however, the Indians had better success in blocking his throws and while he continued to shoot the ball through the air, most of his passes were intercepted. Stangle, at halfback for the soldiers, played a sterling game. He was fast, and hit the line hard. He was also a good open field runner. He scored the two touchdowns for his team, both coming as the result of forward passes. Clements who also played in the back line, played the football.

The soldiers had a strong lineup, but Curry's game was the team's first addition battle of the season, a tendency to fumble proved disastrous. The Indian team played throughout the game with McNulty and Donnellan pulling off many spectacular forward passes, Lynch showing some remarkable open field running and all running and blocking proving a formidable factor in line blocking and interference. Gleason and McNulty also did some very effective defensive work, making a number of classy tackles.

Loeraft at quarterback ran the game well, while Cobb, a new man on the squad, showed to advantage. Warren White, playing his first game of the season, at guard, put up a good game, while all the other members of the outfit also did their share in bringing victory to the local eleven.

The first period was featured by several long end runs by Lynch, and the recovery of a Devens fumble by Spence. The Indians worked up to within a yard of the goal, but were held, and lost the ball. Devens in the first lineup, fumbled and Cobb fell on the ball behind the line for the first score of the game. McNulty then kicked the goal. After kicking to the Indians, the soldiers put forth a stonewall defense, and the Indians failed to make much headway in line plunging. McNulty was then called upon to throw a forward pass, and he shot the ball high to Donnellan, who jumped into the air to pull it down. He was downed in his tracks. Here the Devens ended the game by Spence. The Indians worked up to within a yard of the goal, but were held, and lost the ball. In the second period McNulty and Donnellan again executed a forward pass with the latter carrying the ball over the line for the second touchdown. McNulty again kicked the goal. Devens broke into the scoring column, when Curry shot a forward pass to Stangle, and the latter rushed over. Curry failed to kick the goal. In the third period, the Indians worked the ball to the 30-yard line, when McNulty sent the ball through the air to Donnellan, who caught the ball and ran 15 yards before being tackled. McNulty then in two line plunges made such yards. Gleason then carried the ball to the three-yard line and Lynch shot over for a touchdown. McNulty failed to kick the goal.

The final period, Lynch after making several big gains, was injured by a play. Devens, when getting possession of the ball resorted to an excessive aerial game, with Curry shooting forward passes to all sides. Many failed, but he finally got one to Stangle who went over the line for a touchdown. This time Curry kicked the goal. Shortly after this the game ended. The lineup and score:

INDIANS: Cobb 1c, Nolan 1r, Morse 1r, White 1c, Locke 1r, Loeraft 1c, McNulty 1c, Gleason 1c, Donnellan 1c, Lynch 1c, Curry 1c. Summary: Score, Indians 20, Camp Devens 13. Touchdowns, Donnellan, Cobb, Lynch, Stangle 2. Goals from touchdowns, Indians 2, Camp Devens 1. Referee, Boone.

HURSTON BACK AT BARTMOUTH

HARTFORD, N. H., Nov. 1.—Bartmouth's prospects for victory in next Saturday's gridiron contest with Concord, N. H., were brightened today with the announcement that Captain Robertson, fullback, probably would lead the team. Robertson, who was picked last year for Walter Camp's third all-American team, sustained a broken collarbone in the Penn. State game, and since has been on the sidelines.

Reassurances to Japanese Ambassador

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Reassurances have been given to the Japanese ambassador by the state department, it was revealed in a formal statement today, that no anti-Japanese legislation in the state of California "will be acceptable to the country at large that does not accord with existing and applicable provisions of law and with the national instinct of justice."

Investigate Sinking of Cape Fear

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 1.—Federal investigation to fix responsibility for the sinking of the concrete steamship Cape Fear, off Newport, Friday evening, in which 18 lives aboard that vessel were lost, when the ship collided with the City of Atlanta of the Savannah line, was started here today by Captain Robert B. Clark, inspector of hulks, and Richard P. Bailey, inspector of boilers. The 17 survivors of the Cape Fear and members of the crew of the City of Atlanta, appeared before the inspectors. Their statements were taken in shorthand and will be reviewed by the inspectors before a decision is reached.

TO ELECT PRESIDENT IN CUBA TODAY

HAVANA, Nov. 1 (by Associated Press).—Cuba voted today for a new president and the outcome was awaited with considerable apprehension.

The end of the campaign, regarded as the most bitter since the island gained the right to govern itself, found old party lines broken, with a right about shift in leadership. Platform issues apparently were forgotten in the fight for control of the government by Jose Miguel Gomez, liberal nominee, and Dr. Alfredo Zayas, candidate of the old conservative, or coalition party. Gomez is a former president of Cuba, and Zayas served under him as vice president.

Zayas, founder of the liberal faction, broke away from it this year, and parted company with Gomez, backed by the Menocal administration. His reversal of political allegiance would be best understood in the United States, for example, by the spectacle of a republican national convention nominating as its candidate for president a man named by the democrats in a previous campaign. Soldiers were on duty in all the provinces when the first voters reached the polls. On day orders from President Menocal, they were to deal fearlessly with outlaw bands which were reported to be active in some districts.

ROGERS HALLSCHOOL ADDITION

Ground has been broken for the construction of the foundation of part of the new addition to the Rogers Hall school in Rogers street opposite Fort Hill park. The trustees of the school expect that the foundation for the right wing of the addition will be laid this fall before the frost comes. The contract for the building proper has not been let as yet, although it was estimated this morning from official sources that it would probably be given out early in the spring. The foundation for which digging is going on now is for that part of the building which will border on the corner of Rogers and Fort Hill avenue. This wing is to contain all the service facilities of the school, such as a large kitchen, dining room, maids and butlers' rooms, supply rooms and hospital ward.

The new dining room will be large enough to contain 16 round tables, eight to be seated at each. As soon as this wing of the building is constructed then the rest of the school will be given over practically entirely to class and dormitory purposes. The new addition will also include four large dormitory rooms for students. With the service part of the school sheltered in this end of the lot, all deliveries of produce and supplies will be made from an entrance on Fort Hill avenue and thus the grounds may be kept in much better condition. As the result of the alumnae building fund $12,000 has been given by former students of the school and other individuals have pledged large sums.

leaving the Runels building in two auto trucks about 6 o'clock, and returning to the city on the last car from Billerica. The entertainment at the club included dancing to orchestral music and regular Halloween games and stunts in the barn. The house was very prettily decorated with Halloween colors, jack-o-lanterns, cornstalks, apples and so on. Several club members were dressed up as ghosts to greet the guests as they arrived at the camp. The warmth and glow of a huge campfire in front of the camp lent beauty to the scene. Those in charge of the party were Miss Hawila Lawler and Miss Katherine Cronin, while Mrs. Thomas Hes-sion and Mrs. Griffith acted as chaperones.

CITIZENSHIP PAPERS

Executive Secretary Eli Hart of the American Legion has received notice from the chief naturalization examiner of the state to the effect that another day, November 15, will be open to ex-service men for the filing of papers for citizenship. It was previously thought that the next date for ex-service men to file application for naturalization papers would be in January, but November 15 has been set aside so that applicants may attend the naturalization session which will most likely be held in Boston, and return to this city American citizens. All ex-service men intending to make application for citizenship papers should get in touch with Secretary Hart.

Successes for Soviet Troops Reported

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Several towns northeast and northwest of the Crimean peninsula have been occupied by the soviet Russian forces as a result of hard fighting against General Wrangel's forces along the Black sea front, it is announced in an official statement from Moscow dated yesterday. Among the places occupied are Perekop, Melitopol and Skadovsk. The capture of Melitopol by the Bolsheviks represents an advance of about 75 miles south from Alexandrovsk, on the Dnieper, which Sebastopol despatches last week announced had been evacuated by the forces of Gen. Wrangel. Perekop and Skadovsk lie to the east of the mouth of the Dnieper, on the gulf of Perekop northwest of the Crimea.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The democratic campaign committee of the District of Columbia is planning to hold a League of Nations demonstration in front of the White House tonight. It is planned to have league sympathizers, grouped by states march up Pennsylvania avenue to the executive mansion where patriotic songs will be sung and probably several brief addresses will be made.

Student Executed in Dublin

DUBLIN, Nov. 1.—Kevin Barry, a medical student, was executed at Mountjoy prison today for taking part in an attack on a military escort here last summer. He was charged with murder, as two British soldiers were killed during the fight. When the hour of execution approached nearly 1000 persons prayed outside the prison continuing until after the young man had been pronounced dead. Armored cars guarded the street before the prison. Barry's mother declared last week she was proud her son was dying for Ireland.

SEN. HARDING'S FINAL CAMPAIGN STATEMENT

MARION, Ohio, Nov. 1.—Senator Harding took a rest today from his campaign labors and a smile answered those who asked for his prediction of the outcome of tomorrow's balloting. In place of any special pre-election claim, he called attention to his public utterances of the last few weeks, in which he has declared many times that he fully expected to be inaugurated next March, as the nation's chief executive.

He will vote tomorrow in a precinct where he has cast his ballot for more than 30 years. He and Mrs. Harding, who has been his constant companion throughout the campaign, plan to go to the polls early in the afternoon and to spend the remainder of the day quietly at home.

A straight republican ticket has been recommended to the voters by the candidate repeatedly in his public addresses. Several times he has declared that he did not want to be elected president unless a republican congress were chosen to translate the party's legislative promises into performance, and in every state where he had spoken, he has made an appeal for selection of a republican senate to advise and consent in the formulation of a foreign policy.

At present the party has a majority of only two in the senate and as a particular spur to republican success in senatorial contests, Senator Harding sent to each senatorial nominee last night a telegram declaring that the people would be promoting American leadership in world affairs by increasing the republican margin in the upper house.

Tomorrow night the senator and Mrs. Harding will receive the election returns at their home, bulletins compiled by the Associated Press keeping them advised. Throughout the campaign the Associated Press has been the only news organization maintaining a leased telegraph wire in Harding's newspaper headquarters, a few steps away from the famous "front porch" and as the results of the balloting are made known in distant parts of the country, they will be flashed immediately to Marion.

In a final campaign statement last night to the American people, Senator Harding declared Tuesday's election will turn on two clearly drawn issues, the Paris League of Nations and a constructive domestic policy. The league issue as presented by the democrats, said the republican nominee, "shall we enter the Paris League of Nations, assuming among other obligations the obligation of Article 10?" To this question, he said, the democrats answer "Yes" and the republicans answer "No."

LEAGUE OR NO LEAGUE ISSUE

Roosevelt in Closing 11 Weeks' Campaign Declares Issue Tightly Drawn

"Cox and League, or Harding and Flat Rejection," the Question

HUDSON, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Franklin D. Roosevelt today closed his 11 weeks' campaign in 30 odd states with an address in which he declared the issue was tightly drawn between "Cox and our place in the league at its head, or Harding and flat rejection."

"Broadly speaking," he said, "the question at issue is not of individuals or parties, but whether the United States is to finish the war or to quit cold, whether we are to join the other 40 odd nations in the great working league of nations that will serve to end war for all time, or whether we will turn our back on them and choose a policy of national isolation with its threat of future wars and the consequent burden of ever growing armaments."

Mr. Roosevelt charged the republican party with inconsistency in that Senator Harding in appealing recently for a republican congress, was doing the same thing over which republicans made a "veritable howl" when a similar appeal came from President Wilson in 1918. "But I realize," he continued, "it is asking too much to expect consistency from the world's greatest exponent of the modern wile and wobble policy."

"Looking back over the past 11 weeks one thought is uppermost in my mind and it gives me deep and lasting satisfaction. We have fought a clean fight. There has been no mud-throwing by me, no misrepresentations, no attempts to mislead or deceive the people, no attempt to evade any issue. In direct contrast to the more than questionable campaign methods of our opponents, we have fought the great moral issue we stand for. There is deep personal satisfaction in the knowledge of this. It is good to know that whatever the outcome tomorrow, we can always feel that we have come through with clean hands."

NEW ISOLATION HOSPITAL RATES

Since the opening of the new isolation hospital off Varnum avenue a week ago, there has been more or less inquiry as to what rates were to be charged patients who took advantage of the institution, but up to the present time the local health authorities have not decided upon a definite schedule of rates. However, at a meeting of the board of health scheduled for late this afternoon, the matter was to be decided.

Most tuberculosis hospitals in Massachusetts charge from $10 to $12 per week with extra charges for non-residents. The local hospital has been generally conceded as an establishment which will be a benefit to the community and it is probable that the local authorities will find it necessary to charge fairly substantial rates.

The following figures, showing the rates charged by various tuberculosis hospitals of the commonwealth, were considered by the board in its deliberations in fixing local rates:

Barnstable County Infirmary, Bourne, $12 per week and $15 for non-residents; Boston Consumptive's hospital, $10.50 per week; Infirmary Department hospital, Boston (men only), $5.21 per week; Channing house, Boston (private), women only, $5 per week; Brookline Tuberculosis hospital, $10 per week; Cambridge Tuberculosis hospital, $12.25 per week; Chelsea Tuberculosis hospital, $10 per week; Carter Memorial hospital, Clinton, $10.50 per week and $15.50 for non-residents; Bay View hospital, Fall River, $14 per week; Burbank Tuberculosis hospital, Fitchburg, $12 per week and $15 for non-residents; Hampshire County sanatorium, $10 per week and $12 for non-residents; Haverhill Tuberculosis hospital, $10 per week and $12 for non-residents; Holyoke Tuberculosis hospital, $17 per week; Lawrence Tuberculosis hospital, $10.50 per week; Lynn Tuberculosis hospital, $12 per week; New Bedford sanatorium, $10.50 per week; New Pittsfield Anti-Tuberculosis hospital, $7 to $12 per week; Constance Memorial hospital, Pittsfield (for indigent cases only—private) $7 to $12 per week; Salem Tuberculosis hospital, $12 per week; Sumnerville hospital, $12.50 per week; Springfield Health Department hospital, $10 per week; Belmont hospital, Waverley, $10 to $12 per week.

There are now five tubercular patients at the local hospital and five patients who have contagious diseases.

CLAIMS AND COUNTER CLAIMS IN THE WEST

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Claims and counter claims with flashes of old-time political enthusiasm, marked the conclusion of the campaign in the states of the central west today.

Mystery as to the tide of the tremendous woman vote was reflected in many eloquent hour discussions of the general situation. It was stated on all sides that the woman vote, together with expected ticket scratching in numerous districts, probably would delay returns and create uncertainty where contests were close.

Reports from the various states indicated that in practically all districts, unusual steps had been taken to guard against fraud and to curb quickly any attempts to intimidate woman voters. In many instances the usual number of workers and watchers will be doubled or tripled.

Last minute appeals to voters were made by managers of the republican gubernatorial candidates in Illinois, where a campaign of a 1918 turn has been in progress. "I will be elected by a vote in excess of 50,000," said former Senator James Hamilton Lewis, democratic candidate for governor. Managers of Len Small, who has the nomination of Mayor Thompson of Chicago, in his fight for election on the republican ticket, claimed victory for him over Lewis by 250,000.

G. O. P. ACTIVE IN THE SOLID SOUTH

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 1.—Contents in a half dozen scattered congressional districts where the outcome is said to be in doubt, continued today to stimulate interest among southern voters in tomorrow's election.

While democratic leaders in the various states expressed confidence that there would be no break in the solid south, the republicans who have conducted an unusually vigorous campaign said they expected to make an unprecedented showing and predicted that the republican nominees in several congressional districts would be elected.

The republicans have waged a fight to capture seats in the lower house of congress with particular vigor in the third Louisiana district, the third district of Arkansas, the seventh Alabama district and in the second and ninth districts in Virginia.

Democratic claim Governor Cox will carry Tennessee by 10,000 majority although republican leaders have not been claiming the state for Senator Harding they have been predicting victory for their gubernatorial nominee.

Normal democratic majorities were claimed today for all of the party's candidates in North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Mississippi.

JARDIN.—The funeral of Valyria Jardin took place this morning at 10 o'clock from the home of his parents, 232 Cross street. Services were held at St. Anthony's church at 10:30 o'clock, the prayers being read by Rev. Perry. Burial took place in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

JOHN McCLUSKEY Well Known Centralville Resident Died Last Evening

John McCluskey, an old and deeply respected resident of Lowell and a man whose name has been a household word in Centralville for more than 50 years, passed away last evening. His passing will be regretted by hundreds who knew him and esteemed him highly as one of the leaders in the development of that section of the city.

Mr. McCluskey had been confined to his home, 216 Methuen street, for some time and his death, while not unexpected, has closed a chapter in the life of St. Michael's parish that is bound up with its foundation and growth. He was born in Ireland and though he came to this country when a mere lad, in the years that have intervened he followed with unflinching interest the problems and complexities of the people of his native land and still cherished the hope for the freedom of his native land. He strove always in his long life to help the needy, alleviate the distressed and assist in every praiseworthy undertaking. A familiar figure in the business life of Centralville for years Mr. McCluskey earned a reputation for upright dealing and rugged honesty.

Thirty years before the first stone was laid in the erection of St. Michael's church, Mr. McCluskey was a resident of Centralville and when the parish was formed, he was one of those who suggested to the pastor, Right Rev. William O'Brien, now of St. Patrick's church, the idea of holding services temporarily in the Fourth street engine house. The growth of St. Michael's parish, therefore, has been largely associated with much of the active life of the deceased. He was the first president of the Holy Name society of the parish; and many of the men who were associated with him in the early days of the organization have since passed away. His charity dispensed without stint or ostentation, was one of the outstanding characteristics of his life. He was one of the few men living today who met Rev. Theobald Mathew in 1855 on his visit to Lowell.

He lived the ripe old age of 83 years and the influence of his useful life will long endure and keep green his memory. He is survived by a daughter, Miss Margaret McCluskey, principal of the Lakeview avenue school, and a son, Dr. Richard J. McCluskey.

POLICE MAKE RAID ON GAMBLING JOINT

As the result of a raid on a clubroom in Market street, near Cummings's alley, early Sunday morning, 42 men were arrested by Officers Conney, Moore, Winn, P. B. Clark, Cassette and Lamoureux and booked at the police station, charged with being present where gaming implements were found. They were each fined $5 in police court this morning. Another group of eight men arrested by Officers Conney, Moore and Crowe in a coffee house in Dummer street Sunday morning were booked on the same charge. The eight men were each fined $5 each. The arrests were the result of complaints made by members of the license commission.

Numerous complaints received at the police station this past week about the Market street club included claims that one man lost $1500 after two nights and two days of card playing and that another lost about $800. The officers found some difficulty in gaining admission to the place because of the precautions taken by the men.

Officers Conney and Moore used a ladder to climb to the roof of a porch and thence went into the hallway leading to the club room door. After repeated knocking and commands to open the door, the officers smashed down the door with an axe, burst into the room and held the men at the points of revolvers. Several men in the rear of the room attempted to dash out a side door, but Officers Winn and Cassette were stationed there. One failed to succeed in jumping out a window and taking part of the cash with him but Officers Clark and Lamoureux succeeded in stopping further escapes. The police patroled and several trips back and forth for the prisoners and after the club was cleaned out the officers found two revolvers, knives and other weapons in the room. A revolver and a knife were found in the patrol where they had been dropped by one of the men. All were released on bail after being booked.

Mohamed Kadir, charged with larceny of cloth from market street, and a company on two counts was found guilty and ordered to pay fines of $15 and $10. The complaint charged larceny of 25 yards of cloth at 25 cents, 14 yards at 30 cents, and 19 yards at 25 cents. Major Noyes was the prosecuting officer.

Assault and Robbery

William J. Shanley and William Russos were charged with assault and robbery on October 30 from David Kozkos of a watch valued at $25. Defendants pleaded not guilty and were ordered to furnish $1000 bonds for trial on November 8. Russos was also charged with drunkenness to which he pleaded guilty.

Assault on Officer

Louis Grondine, charged with assault upon Officer William Kenney was fined $1. Grondine struck the officer when he went to arrest him on a claim made by his wife to the officer that she had a warrant for his arrest. The wife did not appear in court this morning to press any charge against the Kind of Service it Expects and Should Have

HONORABLE JOHN T. SPARKS Will Give the EIGHTH SENATORIAL DISTRICT

To the Voters of the 8th Senatorial District:—

You will elect a Senator tomorrow, to serve you at the State House. His political designation on the ballot is of secondary importance to his ability and knowledge to properly represent you on questions of public policy.

You know that the service of Mr. Sparks's opponent has been decidedly negative and indifferent to the interests of the district throughout the year. Is it possible for you to recall to mind a single measure that he has taken a popular and firm stand upon? The most charitable criticism that may be offered is that he has failed to measure up to the duties of the office from the standpoint of constructive service.

The past public service of Mr. Sparks is the best guarantee of his capacity and non-partisanship to faithfully represent the interests of all the people of the district, without political bias warping his judgment on legislation. Hon. Murray Crane as governor, when Mr. Sparks formerly served as senator, publicly commended him for his liberal and non-partisan views.

Citizens of the district, regardless of party affiliation vote for John T. Sparks tomorrow and elect a man Senator who will give you the kind of service you need and should have.

ALL IS READY FOR ELECTION

Fully 25,000 Expected to
Vote Here Tomorrow—
Over One-Third Women

Sentiment Grows for Cox
and Roosevelt—State and
Local Candidates Active

It is believed that with reasonably good weather at least 25,000 votes will be cast in the "solemn referendum" in Lowell tomorrow. There are approximately 30,000 names on the voting lists. About 12,000 of these have been added since the last election. Something over a third of the registered voters are women and will cast their ballots for the first time in a national or state election.

The polls are to be open at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning and close at 5 p. m. Voting in the early hours of the day is desirable. It is anticipated that there will be a rush for the polling places between the hours of 5 and 6 in the afternoon. The last ballots must be in the boxes when the clock strikes 5. There can be no extension of time to accommodate laggards.

The republican leaders are making the claim today that they will carry the city by at least 2000 majority. The democratic chieftains are pointing to the fact that the city is normally democratic and refraining from claiming specific majorities.

In the state it is expected that there will be a vote of approximately 150,000. This is about a third larger than was cast last year. The republicans are claiming a majority of 200,000 for Harding and Coolidge in the state. They admit, though, that Channing Cox, even if elected, will run behind his ticket, and that unless their landslide predictions regarding the vote for the national ticket are realized, Alvan T. Fuller is likely to be defeated for lieutenant governor by Marcus A. Coolidge in the three-cornered fight between Fuller, Coolidge and Washburn.

Hopes For O'Hearn

The republicans have made an extra effort by the circulation of campaign literature to insure that supporters of the party shall place their crosses opposite the name of James Jackson of Westwood, the regular nominee for state treasurer, instead of that of George H. Jackson of Lynn, independent. The democratic leaders, however, are playing their faith on the presence of the names of the two Jacksons on the ticket to put Patrick O'Hearn of Boston over the top for the office by a comfortable margin.

It is not improbable that in the election on tomorrow 25,000,000 ballots will be cast in the 48 states of the union. Both parties are claiming a victory for their candidates. Party lines are broken as they have not been in many years. Many voters will doubtless find themselves puzzled as they have never before when they enter the polling booths. Senator Harding has maneuvered himself into a position in which he has the support of bitter-end opponents of the league and loyal supporters of the covenant. As a matter of fact the senator has stated that he "would scrap the league," while Gov. Cox has said that stands firmly for ratification with suitable reservations. It can be truthfully said, though, that the issue has

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—It was announced today at the state headquarters of the American Legion that Luther Faulkner, commander of the Lowell post, and 14 members of the post, had been summoned to appear before the executive committee of the legion to answer a charge of having taken part in political action in a way that is forbidden by the constitution of the soldiers' organization. Rev. Francis L. Keenan De-
livers Eulogy — Church
and Open Air Services

Seldom if ever in the history of this city was there any other such general spontaneous and enthusiastic demonstration by the citizens of Irish extraction as that of yesterday in honor of Ireland's martyrs, the victims of the recent hunger strike in British prisons—Lord Mayor MacSwiney of the city of Cork, Michael Fitzgerald and Joseph Murphy.

The fate of Terence MacSwiney especially and his heroic sacrifice, caused profound sorrow among the friends of Ireland and this was intensified by their admiration for his unconquerable spirit which defied every effort on the part of his jailers to have him abandon his protest not only against his imprisonment but against alien rule in Ireland.

As the hour approached for the start of the parade, the various contingents arrived by parishes in the vicinity of city hall, led by their respective clergymen and prominent laymen, who were followed by long processions of men and women, together with a few organizations of children, and all showed a full realization of the sorrowful character of the demonstration. The parade started on time and was certainly a most impressive spectacle.

MUFF PASSES UP

Stiff Mole was making awful mistakes while they were playing blind man's buff. He was "it" and every time he caught anyone he guessed the wrong person. Mike, his father, was mortified to death, and Mr. Scribble, the fairy schoolmaster, hardly knew what to make of it. But Nick and Nancy were wise little people and knew that Muff wasn't so stupid as he was pretending.

By and bye Muff caught Cutie Cottontail with his great long ears sticking up like lamp-posts and his tail nothing more than a name. Everyone of the Meadow Grove pupils was perfectly positive he'd guess right this time. In fact, they were hoping he would, for they were getting tired playing the same game all the time and wanted to change. Besides, they were getting hungry.

Muff felt Cutie all over, even hopping up on the rabbit's back and feeling his great long ears to the very tips. "Scamper Squirrel," he announced directly, and his mother and father

BOTH PARTIES CLAIM RHODE ISLAND

PROVIDENCE, Nov. 1.—The speaking campaign in Rhode Island closed last night with rallies in various parts of the state. There are 100,000 voters of the state and it is estimated that 170,000 ballots will be cast. Both parties claim the election. Republican Chairman Burlingame said:

"The republicans will elect their entire state ticket headed by San Souci for governor, by over 20,000. The legislature will have 50 republican majority. There are 10 towns where the opposition has not even made a nomination for the assembly, giving us 20 members without a skirmish."

"There is no question of Harding and Coolidge carrying Rhode Island. It is only the size of the majority, probably 25,000. The republicans will carry most of the cities for municipal offices and elect all three congressmen."

Democratic Chairman Archambault said: "The democrats will carry the state for Cox by 10,000 and we will have the best support the women can give us. Edward M. Sullivan, democratic nominee for governor, and the

FAREWELL CONCERT

Louis Napoleon Gullbault, former organist of St. Jean Baptiste church and director of the Gullbault academy for music, who will sail next week for France, where he will continue his piano studies with Chaminade, a celebrated composer and pianist, gave a farewell concert in Colonial hall last evening. There were about 500 friends and pupils of Mr. Gullbault present and all were highly entertained. The program was brief but of exceptional merit, those taking part being Mr. Gullbault, who entertained his audience with enjoyable selections; Miss Anna Martel, a talented soprano; Miss Alice Gullbault, an accomplished violinist and Mr. David C. Boyle, the well known baritone. The accompanists were Miss Irene Hall, Mr. Eugene Gullbault and Mr. John Ball. Before the evening's program was brought to a close Mr. Gullbault was presented two purses of gold, one from the members of St. Jean Baptiste church choir and the other from the pupils of the academy. During Mr. Gullbault's absence the academy will be in charge of Miss Alice Renaud.

Indiana Tells Operators How Much Fuel the State Must Get

(N.E.A. Staff Special)

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—Indiana and the nation stand agape today while the state administration, elected from the most conservative group in the republican party, is taking away from the coal operators and dealers the right to control "their own" property.

Excessive Profits

Coal operators admit privately they have been making excessive profits, but claim the prices fixed by the state coal commission are too low and that they can only operate at a loss under them. With the fixing of prices, Indiana operators immediately began sending coal out of the state in larger quantities until the pinch was felt throughout the state.

Then the commission started the state, the operators and the nation. It ordered the operators to produce enough coal to supply Indiana's domestic consumption, 1,600,000 tons a month, at a price fixed by the commission.

The order requires a report each week on the number of tons mined, the amount offered for sale and the buyers. Violations of the order are punishable by a maximum fine of $5000, to which may be added a sentence of one year on the Indiana state farm.

This revolutionary order is the first of its kind, attorneys state. Monopolistic public utilities have been ordered to serve people, but never before has a business in which competition is supposed to exist been ordered to serve the people with its property.

Warns Operators

James P. Goodrich, Indiana's conservative governor, who fostered the law establishing the commission, has warned the coal operators not to fight reasonable regulation.

Chairman Eschbach of the commission recently announced that if Indiana retail coal dealers refused to observe the commission's ruling on the $2.25 margin granted them on the mine price of coal, he would establish municipal coal yards throughout the state.

Goodrich, faithful in selecting the commission, evaded the old cry of "just another useless commission," by continuing the old board of accounts as the coal commission, the members performing their new duties without additional pay. Gov. Goodrich, Jesse Eschbach, chief of the board of accounts, and Otto Klaus, auditor of the state, make up the commission.

LOWELL MECHANIC PHALANX OUTING

The affair was a success in every way and reflected great credit upon the organizers.

The target shoot was held in the afternoon and was followed by a business meeting during which interesting reports of the various committees of the association were given. A feature of the meeting was the election of officers, which resulted as follows: James Burns, president; Ambrose Reed, vice president; Charles J. Prosperous Massachusetts
Farmer Says His Wonderful Improvement Since Taking Tanlac Was Great Surprise to His Friends.

When so many well known people of unquestioned integrity make statement after statement, and each and every one of them testifying to the same thing every day, and each and every statement corroborating the other, the truth of such statements can no longer be doubted.

One of the latest to testify regarding Tanlac, the medicine that is accomplishing such remarkable results everywhere, is Charles H. Chase, of Lakeside, Mass., and when men of this type testify it must be conceded that the premier preparation is all that is claimed for it.

Mr. Chase is one of the most successful and widely known farmers in Massachusetts and although now 80 years of age, and retired for several years, he still looks after his large interests and takes an active part in the social and civic affairs of his community.

"I have been benefited even beyond my belief," said Mr. Chase, "and I think it is time for me to talk Tanlac for the benefit of others. Why, this medicine has not only relieved me of a case of stomach trouble that had followed me for years, almost wrecking my health, but it has built me up 20 pounds in weight, besides, and I just can't say too much for it.

"Many a time I have had such terrific pains in my stomach and felt so nauseated and dizzy I could hardly stand up. I lost weight and got so weak that even a walk of a few yards would get me all exhausted and out of breath. Several times, while out looking after the work on my farm I became so weak I had to be carried back home.

"Seeing Tanlac so highly endorsed I concluded to make one more effort to get my health back, so I sent for two bottles of the medicine and felt so much better after finishing the first one that it surprised me.

"My pains have all left me. I eat like a horse and as I have said I gained 20 pounds in the past five weeks. My dizziness and stomach misery have all disappeared and I eat just anything I want. My wonderful improvement has been a surprise to all my friends as well as to myself.

"In giving this statement I have no axe to grind or favors to ask. I only feel that I am paying my big debt of gratitude by doing what I can to get others started out on the Tanlac road to good health, for I believe the medicine is a godsend to suffering humanity. One thing certain, it has relieved my troubles and built me up until I feel that I am as good a man physically as I ever was in my younger days."

Tanlac is sold in Lowell by Greens Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

both in numbers and in manifestations of sorrow for the new martyrs to the Irish cause. There were probably 12,000 people in line and the assembly on the South common where the exercises were held, must have numbered at least 15,000. The exercises at the common consisted of the delivery of an eloquent eulogy upon Lord Mayor MacSwiney by Rev. Francis L. Keenan of St. Patrick's church, followed by the recitation of the rosary directed by Rev. Dr. Kelleher of St. Peter's.

The ceremonies throughout were conducted with strict religious solemnity and the firing of the salutes and sounding of taps over the three caskets at the close were strikingly impressive.

Shortly after 2.30 the services which were held in the various Catholic churches, consisting of the chanting of the Libera and the recitation of the rosary, came to an end and members of the various parishes began assembling near city hall for the start of the procession.

St. Patrick's delegation was the first to arrive and took up a position in Cardinal O'Connell parkway, facing Merrimack street. Children from St. Patrick's parochial school under the direction of the Naveian brothers led this delegation. The children formed a cross and made a very impressive showing. Rev. James A. Supple, D.D., James O'Sullivan, Commissioner Dennis A. Murphy, Peter McKeena, Matthew James and Patrick Sheridan led this delegation.

St. Peter's delegation, forming in Worthen street, was led by Rev. Peter P. Linahan, Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, Michael J. Sharkey, Richard Lyons, Mrs. Michael J. Sharkey, Mrs. Michael J. Monahan, Mary McKennedy and Catherine McKennedy.

The Immaculate Conception delegation formed in Moody street, facing Merrimack, and in the lead were members of the Y.M.C.A. and the women of the parish. Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, O.M.I., Rev. James J. McCarthy, O.M.I.,

Daniel P. Murphy, Charles Burns, Thomas P. Clark and Joseph A. Preston were in charge of the representation.

From St. Michael's parish came another large delegation which formed in Dutton street, facing Merrimack. Those heading the line were Rev. Jas. F. Lynch, Rev. Thomas J. Heagney, Henry Rogers, Thomas B. Delaney, William Gallagher, Thomas Dillon, Commissioner John F. Salmon and Hon. John T. Sparks. The women's division of this parish was led by Mrs. John J. Coughlin, Theresa Burke, Nora Burke and Winifred Coleman.

The Sacred Heart delegation, forming in Shattuck street, was led by Rev. John P. Flynn, O.M.I., Rev. John H. Doherty, O.M.I., Bryan McFadden, Stephen Flynn, Joseph McOsker and George Brennan.

Rev. Charles J. Galligan, Rev. Stephen J. Murray, James P. Hennessy, Robert H. Thomas, John C. Roark, Thomas J. O'Donnell, and John Barrett headed St. Margaret's delegation which formed in Middle and Shattuck streets.

St. Columba's delegation, forming in Palmer street, was headed by Rev. Patrick J. Halley, Warren P. Riordan and Lieut. Timothy M. Kelly.

The delegations formed promptly, and it was shortly after 3 o'clock when the procession began wending its way down Merrimack street with the O.M.I. Cadet Drum corps beating a muffled dirge. The long procession was led by a cordon of police commanded by Supt. Redmond Welch. They were followed by color-bearers carrying the national colors and the flag of the Irish republic. Patrick J. Mahoney, president of the local branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, was chief marshal. Capt. Francis J. Kierce was chief of staff and Thomas B. Delaney adjutant. Representatives of the various organizations in the rear and other prominent in the Irish movement served as aids.

Carry Draped Caskets

Following the chief marshal's staff came three caskets draped in black and bearing the colors of the Irish republic, borne on the shoulders of a delegation of Irish volunteers. An escort of Irish guards, commanded by Major Daly and Captain McDermott, followed.

A delegation of former service men, with Rev. William Mahan, O.M.I., chaplain of the Lowell post of the American Legion, was next in line. Then came the delegations from the various parishes headed by that from St. Patrick's. The procession went down Merrimack street, up Central to Middlesex, to South and then to the South common. It took nearly an hour for it to pass a given spot.

On the common the parades and thousands of spectators crowded around the bandstand. On the stand, in addition to the various officials in charge of the affair, the chief marshal's staff and the clergymen already mentioned, were Right Rev. William O'Brien, P.R., pastor of St. Patrick's church, Rev. Daniel J. Kelleher, Ph.D., pastor of St. Peter's church, Rev. Fr. Galligan of St. Margaret's, Rev. Fr. Halley of St. Columba's, Rev. Fr. Flynn, O.M.I., of the Sacred Heart, together with Rev. Fr. Keenan, the eulogist, and many other clergymen of the local churches.

GOV. COX'S LAST PLEA

Declares His Visits to 36 States Convinced Him Country Wants League

DAYTON, O., Nov. 1.—Gov. Cox passed yesterday resting at Tralstead, his home near Dayton, for the final speech of his campaign at Toledo tonight. Members of his family were with him most of the day, but later in the afternoon he was alone through the forest. His only political conference, he said, was a brief long-distance telephone talk with Chairman White in New York.

In a statement last night, the governor said that the election of Senator Harding will mean that the peace treaty will not be submitted to the senate for ratification, which, he added, will result in "controversy and confusion." His visits to 36 states, he declared, convinced him that the sentiment of the country favors America's entry into the league.

"The events of the campaign are so clear in their significance," said his statement, "that the voter who is conscientious, rather than prejudiced, senses the difference between an election result which means the certain achievement of the nation's hopes on the one hand, and continued uncertainty and confusion on the other."

James Clear, declares Cox "I am in favor of going into the league; Senator Harding is in favor of staying out. I am concerned about clarification; he is concerned about rejection. These are the outstanding words of the campaign."

"Senator Harding says he will not submit the treaty of peace to the senate as it is, but that he will change it."

Bilious? Take NR Tonight

Nature's Remedy is Better and Softer Than Cathartics. Cleans Out System Without Gripping. Stops Sick Headaches. Guaranteed.

Bilious attacks, constipation, sick headaches, etc., are in the great majority of cases due to digestive trouble and no reasonable person can expect to obtain real or lasting benefit until the cause is corrected.

Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) is a vegetable compound that acts on the stomach, liver, bowels and kidneys, the purpose being to bring about healthy and harmonious action of all the organs of digestion and elimination. It acts promptly and thoroughly, yet so mildly and gently that there is never the slightest gripping or discomfort.

But that is not all. Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) have a beneficial effect upon the entire body. By improving the process of digestion and assimilation, the nourishment is derived from food, the blood quality is enriched, vitality is increased and the whole system strengthened.

Once you get your body in this splendid condition, you need not take medicine every day—just take an NR Tablet occasionally when indigestion, biliousness and constipation trouble you, and you can always feel your best. Remember keeping well is easier and cheaper than getting well.

Get a 50c box of Nature's Remedy (NR Tablets) and try it. It is sold guaranteed and recommended by your druggist.

Since the president is without the right to make any alteration, this means that he will not submit it at all. This will result in one thing, and one thing only, in controversy and confusion.

"When the men and women go into the voting booths it is their duty to remember the pledge that was given in the name of America and it is proper at this time to ask whether we are going to maintain the nation's honor."

"The happiness of our people is dependent in part upon their opportunity to labor. Thereafter, our prosperity, as it is to be affected in financial affairs, is a vital consideration. The chaotic state of things in a part of the world cannot go on much longer without the backwash striking the very foundations of our commercial institutions. Unless we go into the League of Nations there is no guarantee against the waste of resources in the maintenance of armies and navies, and unless this waste is halted, national credit overseas is out of the question."

"I have faith in the conscience of America. It has given a pledge that it did not redeem and no great moral question has ever failed when it was submitted to the judgment of the people. If we turn our thoughts to the graves of the 3,000 brave American boys who now sleep in Europe, our souls tell us what to do. The highway of civilization is lined with the maimed and disabled. If we assemble the philanthropic heart of the world and mold it into a concrete movement of helpfulness, our duty will have been done. Otherwise, the morality of nations has failed."

"Suffering humanity waits upon the voice of America. The verdict of Nov. 2 means joy or despair, world-wide."

Cox Plans Long Vacation

The governor with his party arrived early yesterday from Chicago, where he virtually completed his campaign, speaking Saturday to thousands of voters in several addresses. His last words of the campaign will be spoken at Toledo, he leaving Dayton this afternoon for that city.

As soon as the election is over Gov. Cox plans a long vacation, probably of several weeks, on a hunting trip in Mississippi. Although he has received several invitations for a post-election rest, the Mississippi hunting trip, as the guest of Senator Harrison of Mississippi, chairman of the democratic speakers' bureau, is said to have been virtually decided upon and will be made regardless of the election result.

The governor is an expert shot, whether with rifle or shotgun, and has hunted in many parts of the country. A plantation near Pasquale, Miss., owned by a friend of Senator Harrison, will be the base of Gov. Cox's hunting trips. It is said to be near one of the hunting grounds of President Roosevelt.

When the governor returns home from Toledo election morning he will have traveled in his campaign nearly 22,000 miles, according to an unofficial estimate, a record, it is believed, for any presidential candidate. During his travels, which have been virtually continuous since his notification Aug. 7, Gov. Cox made 34 addresses, including innumerable other brief talks, greetings and receptions. It is estimated he has spoken to 2,000,000 persons.

The governor has spoken in 38 states, all except Maine and Vermont in New England, and Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Arkansas and Texas of the "solid south."

Despite the great tax upon his voice and bodily strength, Gov. Cox finished his campaign in tip-top condition, with only "speakers' hoarseness." He is tanned a ruddy bronze and has lost virtually no weight.

Says Dr. Edwards, a Well-Known Ohio Physician

Dr. F.M. Edwards for 17 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave to his patients a prescription made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients mixed with olive oil, naming them Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. You will know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, which cause a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system.

If you have a pale face, sallow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, you take one of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the successful substitute for calomel—now and then just to keep them fit. 15c and 30c

SPOKE ON AMERICA IN WORLD CRISIS

"It would be a great tragedy if a republican victory should mean our country's repudiation of her responsibilities to the rest of the world," said D. Brewer Eddy, junior secretary of the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions in a sermon in Highland Congregational church yesterday morning. He spoke on the topic "America in the World Crisis."

Mr. Eddy said there was danger that if the republicans were winners, "they will do exactly the things they did after the victory in the state of Maine,—that they will say the victory was won because the people of America wanted nothing to do with Europe. We do. We do not intend to put our necks under the yoke of the nations of Europe. But the hide-bound republicans win. That he is justified in washing his hands of the golden rule or the missionary attitude of the church, that man is half-baked intellectually."

"If the republican party wins it means that we do not want Article X. It may mean that a majority of the people are not enthusiastic about the democratic party policy in Washington. But it may not mean that America washes her hands of obligation to the nations of the world."

"I believe with Francis Peabody, that there are higher principles to dominate the people of the earth, than 'Safely First.' It may be that we do not want this issue forced upon us in this manner. But we are going in some way, to fight against the wrongs of the world. 'Safely First,' under the leadership of American politics, is a crime."

"Nationally, the result of this election, will be that the righteous conviction of this people is yet to be expressed. If you vote with the democratic party it does not mean that you are going to get the league. If you vote with the republican party it does not mean that we are going away as a nation and hide our heads in the sand, and cry 'Peace, peace,' when there is no peace."

In closing Mr. Eddy said that the American Board has increased its expenditures 50 per cent in the last two years, and pleaded for more substantial support for the missionary cause. During the afternoon an "every member's canvass of the parish was made by 40 men and women of the church.

Expect Record Vote Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Rain was forecast for some sections of the state tomorrow, but political managers declared today the vote would be the largest ever recorded. Although up-state registration figures were not available, party leaders estimated there are 3,168,000 eligible voters. Of these 1,500,000 are women who will exercise the privilege of casting a ballot for a presidential candidate for the first time. Two years ago they voted for governor and other state officers. Governor Smith, democratic candidate for re-election, expected to remain at his home here, and his opponent, Nathan L. Miller was back at his home in Syracuse. The fight conducted by the socialists in New York city for re-election of the five ousted members of the assembly is attracting attention.

11 Convicted of Conspiracy in Korea

SEOUL, Korea, Nov. 1.—Eleven persons involved in recent disorders here were convicted of conspiracy today and were given sentences varying from one to three years. It was stipulated by the court that the time they had already spent in prison would be deducted from their sentences. Several persons who were accused were acquitted.

Five Young Men and Women Injured

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—Five preparatory school students and a young woman friend were injured when their automobile crashed into a tree near Hunter's island bridge, in Pelham Bay park early today. The party was bound from New Haven to New York on the New Rochelle road, and Phillip Morgan Plant was driving the car. The young men all are pupils at a preparatory school at Norwalk, Conn.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

By Theatres' Own Press Agents
OPERA HOUSE
"Friendly Enemies," the play that received the unqualified endorsement of three presidents, Wilson, Roosevelt and Taft, will be the offering for the present week by the Lowell Players at the Opera House. There's not the slightest doubt but that the announcement of the coming of this high class production will be greeted with enthusiastic acclaim by all lovers of the better class of plays. To pass on the worth of this internationally famous comedy, which has been playing continuously for almost three years in all of the large cities and towns of the United States and Great Britain, is needless at this time for it is too well known to the large majority of playgoers. Suffice to say that it has all of the happy and pleasing elements that go to make up a delightful and genuinely satisfying comedy drama.

One critic termed it "One of the greatest theatrical properties of the last decade." The timeliness of the play, its wonderful blending of comedy and pathos; its tender love and powerful human interest have combined in making it more popular than most of the big successes of the recent past. The authors are Samuel Shipman and Aardra Hoffman, both among the foremost American playwrights.

Director Jack Bennett promises a finished production for local consumption. He will give his best efforts to it and thus assure the patrons of a most satisfying presentation. Miss Marguerite Fields, Milton Byron, Miss Priscilla Knowles and Mr. Bennett will be found in characterizations that will give them ample chance of displaying their exceptional talent. The others of the company will also be found assigned to congenial roles.

The advance sale of tickets is already long, and the present engagement for the week. Better get your tickets as early as possible. Box office open daily from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m.

One of the pleasing features in connection with all presentations is the musical numbers given by the Lowell Players orchestra, under the direction of Joseph Fredette.

week at the B. F. Keith theatre, but also to the two performances which will be given tomorrow—Tuesday—night, the better to enable many hundreds of persons to listen to election returns hot off the wires and to see a good show in conjunction with this getting of information on a vital topic. The first performance will begin at 7:30 o'clock, and the second one will start at 9:45 o'clock.

Grace Huff in Frank Craven's splendid comedy, "Just like a man," will be the headline performer on this varied bill. Miss Huff will be supported by Frank M. Remley and company. It is a comedy of the eternal triangle, but the big dramatic situation is very adroitly turned into exceedingly high class comedy. The hand of the author is a practiced one, that much is certain, also this seemingly impossible twist would be but poorly accomplished by Miss Huff is an exceedingly versatile woman. For 58 consecutive weeks she appeared in a Baltimore stock company, and played 55 separate and distinct roles, all of the leading type.

The word "skitologist" is just one of those evolutions which comes now and then and which carries a meaning all its own. Arthur Wanser and Maybelle Palmer are "skitologists"—that is, they appear in a skit called "She's Hard to Get Along With." It is a mixture of vaudeville dainties, and one really is at a loss to find out just why Mr. Wanser has selected such a title for his appearances. At least, Miss Palmer seems one of the most amiable and attractive of persons.

All the way from Frisco come the Golden Gate Trio, who will put on their evergreen singing and dancing revue. These three are nothing if not up-to-the-minute in their work, and they don't let time rest heavy on anybody's hands.

Dave Roth couldn't think of any other title for his act but "Versatility." That tells almost the whole of Dave's story, for he dances, sings, talks, plays a grand piano and a one-stringed fiddle. In between he does a bit of mimicry and sleight-of-hand. If there's anything else in the stage world that isn't named then Dave does it.

Gene Mason and Fay Cole have a diverting musical sketch called "Just for a Kiss," and Davis and Pelle offer a piece of Marathon equilibrium. It's long-distance all right. The Ovandos are Spanish dancers who do the fandango and the bolero and other Andalusian steps. And this big show

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

The loyalty and love of the women of the north during the Civil war are admirably depicted in a new, striking pictorialization of William Gillette's famous stage success, "The Riddle Woman," which opened a three days engagement at the Merrimack Square theatre this afternoon. Another fine tribute has been paid the noted playwright in the screening of this, one of his most powerful dramatic creations. "Held by the Enemy" is a picture that will touch the heart of the most hardened spectator, a story that will impress on all who see it the beauty of sacrifice and love. A cast representing the best talent of the screen profession was chosen to interpret the important roles. Among those who take part are Agnes Ayres, Wanda Hawley, Jack Holt and Robert Brower. The other big feature for the first half of the week is "The Blue Moon," a stirring dramatic creation; a Ben Turpin comedy, the International News and Topics of the Day.

THE STRAND
Geraldine Farrar, grand opera and screen star, will appear in her latest picture success, "The Riddle Woman," at The Strand for the first three days of the week, commencing with matinee today. Miss Farrar, the star glorious, is as fascinating as Mona Lisa in her portrayal of "The Riddle Woman." Her complex personality, her tireless emotion, her exquisite language, her vibrant appeal, her passionate vitality reflect the mystery of a woman's heart. She is dazzling in her gorgeous gowns, fascinating in her feminine appeal, triumphant in her dramatic art. See her in this

RIALTO THEATRE

"The Master Mind," with Lionel Barrymore appearing as the leading character, is the big attraction at the Rialto theatre for the three first days of this week. It is an absorbing story of intrigue and hate used by a brilliant

The other features on the same bill are Franklin Farnum in "Brother Bill," Johnny Ray in "Father's Close Shave," Episode 13 of "The Third Eye," a Ford weekly and the Fox News. Don't miss it.

FUNERAL OF MACSWINEY

Thousands Pay Tribute to
Newest Irish Martyr—Buried at Cork Yesterday

CORK, Nov. 1.—(By Associated Press)—In the presence of surprised church dignitaries, scores of his former comrades and thousands of his countrymen, the body of James MacSwiney was lowered to its resting place in the "Republican plot" in St. Finbar's cemetery, just outside Cork yesterday afternoon.

Despite the splendor lent the scene by the attendance of the high churchmen, there was a simplicity marking the ceremonies that was impressive.

Outside the cemetery, hidden by the enormous crush of townspeople, two armoured cars, their machine guns ready, and a half dozen lorries filled with fully equipped soldiers, were drawn up at the roadside, imparting a sinister air to the otherwise solemn proceedings. But during the transfer of the body from the city hall, through the streets, and with crowds, to St. Mary's Cathedral, and during the procession from the Cathedral to the cemetery, there was not an incident of violence or disturbance.

Buried Beside MacCurran
The city of Cork and the whole countryside paid tribute to the memory of their "newest martyr." The body was buried beside that of former Lord Mayor MacCurran, who was assassinated. A few yards away are the graves of Joseph Murphy, who, like MacSwiney, died a hunger striker in Cork jail, adorned with an American flag, and of two other Irish republican soldiers.

Archbishop Harry of Cashel occupied the throne in presiding over the solemn requiem mass in St. Mary's cathedral. Mr. Cahalan, Bishop of Cork, was the celebrant. The clergy assisting included Archbishops Clune of Perth, Australia, and Barry of Hobart, Tasmania, and Bishops Browne of Cloyne, O'Sullivan of Kerry, Foley of Ballarat, Australia, and Fogarty of Killaloe.

The Irish republican flag-draped coffin rested on a catafalque, covered with a pall, with a skull and cross-bones on either side, such as is used at the obsequies of high churchmen.

The cathedral was filled and thousands of persons were massed in the adjacent streets.

The transfer of the casket from the city hall was without incident. Two armoured cars and five lorries of troops kept in the background as the cortege moved to the church.

Thousands Bare Heads
The two-mile route of the procession from the cathedral to the cemetery was solidly flanked by thousands of persons, who bared their heads as the flag-draped casket, borne on the shoulders of the mayor's brothers and intimate friends, passed by.

When the services at the cathedral ended and the procession formed under the supervision of the Irish Volunteers moved off slowly, the cathedral bell began tolling. This was immediately echoed by the bells of the other churches in the city. John Peter MacSwiney, brother of the dead mayor, acted as chief coffin bearer. Father Donohue, MacSwiney's private chaplain, and Arthur Griffith, vice-president of the "Irish republic," came immediately behind him. One hundred and eighty priests headed the procession. They were followed by acolytes and high church dignitaries. Then came two flower-bedecked hearses, a company of Volunteers dressed in citizens' clothes and 25 carriages with women mourners.

Volunteers, each of them carrying floral pieces formed an outer column on each side of the procession. A column of Volunteers held back the solid lines of bare-headed spectators who overran the sidewalks. A number of wreaths sent by Americans were noticeable among the floral pieces in the hearses.

As the clergy were filing away from the graveside after the body had been lowered six men who were admitted within the circle formed by the Volunteers took positions over the grave and fired a revolver salute of three volleys and silently withdrew.

Mr. Griffith, in paying a tribute to MacSwiney's life work in the service of the Irish cause declared that Joan of Arc "would find in the martyred Lord mayor a worthy comrade in heaven."

DO ALL MY HOUSEWORK

Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I could hardly stand, says Mrs. Kwarcinaki.

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered with displacement and irregularities and I did not know what to do. My mother advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and use the Sanative Wash so I took her advice and used these remedies and cured myself. I feel fine and do all my housework which I could not do before, as I could hardly stand up and I have three healthy children. You can use this letter if you wish, for your remedy is certainly wonderful for sick, run down women."—Mrs. A. KWARCINAKI, 3627 W. Oakdale Ave., Chicago, Ill.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been making women strong and well, relieving backache, nervousness, ulceration, and inflammation, weakness, displacements, irregularities and periodic pains. It has also proved invaluable in preparing for childbirth and the Change of Life.

The letters from women who have been restored to health by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound which we are continually publishing attest to its value.

PRES. WILSON'S NAME BRINGS WILD APPLAUSE

BOSTON, Nov. 1.—Symphony hall rang with cheers last night when the following telegram from President Woodrow Wilson was read by John E. Moors, chairman of the public interest of the League of Nations.

"I wish I could be present to give proof of my great interest in the noble objects of your meeting. Never before have our people been called upon to pass judgment upon so vital an issue."

"I am confident that we can rely upon the men and women of all parties in Massachusetts to support and sustain the great cause of the League of Nations."

"WOODROW WILSON."

It was a notable meeting for a Sunday evening. The hall was packed and whenever the name of President Wilson was mentioned there was intense applause. The name was mentioned in a casual way at first by Chairman Moors and he was rather astonished at the sudden burst of applause all over the hall. Then a little later, after referring to the 20 wounded ex-soldiers present he said he was one of those who saw last Tuesday wounded and stricken "the one great hero of the war." Before he could say the name the applause began and the audience rose and continued the applause some moments.

Chairman Moors then said: "That is good. I did not have to mention his name."

Speakers Plead for League

And there was a great list of speakers, beginning with Ray Stannard Baker. Then came Prof. Frank W. Taussig; Miss Margaret Prescott Montague, the West Virginia author; Rev. Samuel McChord Crothers, Prof. Charles H. Haskins and Hamilton Holt, secretary of the League to Enforce Peace.

There were 100 or more prominent persons on the platform and in the audience were prominent persons from all over Greater Boston. The only question asked was at the end when a speaker near the platform asked Hamilton Holt what could be expected for Ireland under the League of Nations with Article 10 "as is."

Mr. Holt said that curiously enough Great Britain has just established a precedent herself under which the United States or any other power could call up the Irish question in the League of Nations. It was the case of the Aland Islands which threatened war between Sweden and Finland and which Finland protested was a "domestic question."

Great Britain took the position it was a question that threatened peace and was of vital interest. In consequence, other nations, and asked that it be taken up by the League of Nations. Sweden agreed to this, and the court of the league, or body to which it was referred as to the right of the League to consider the question, has reported that it is a subject for the league. Further, when such a question as the Irish question is introduced, it is by a majority vote and not by unanimous consent, as are so many other questions.

Mr. Hope said there was no doubt but Mr. Cox if elected would surely bring the Irish question before the league.

Although the meeting was non-partisan every speaker insisted that the only way to get a League of Nations was to accept the present covenant with such reservations as seemed desirable and the way to get that was to vote for Cox and Roosevelt. And this suggestion always seemed to meet with hearty approval.

YOUR FIFTY-CENT DOLLAR

How far will it go in the public market? It is the same old dollar, but its purchasing power has been lowered fifty per cent. You can get a lot of Shredded Wheat Biscuit for that dollar—nearly as much as you got before the war—and it is all food, made of the whole wheat, nothing wasted or thrown away. Requires no sugar. Two Biscuits with milk make a nourishing meal. Delicious with fruits.
